ROOSEVELT BY PROGRESSIVES

CHARLES EVANS HUGHES

JUSTICE HUGHES WON ON THE THIRD BALLOT

COLISEUM, Chicago, June 10.—Charles Evans Hughes of New York, was nominated for president by the republican national convention on the third ballot today. His vote was practically unanimous. He received 919½; Col. Theodore Roosevelt received 18½; Du Pont 5; Weeks 3; Lodge 7 and La Follette 3. One was absent. Before the roll call had covered half the states Hughes had the necessary 494. New Jersey's vote touched the mark. Later Hughes' nomination was made unanimous.

HUGHES HEARS NEWS
WASHINGTON, June 10.—Justice Hughes was told of his nomination for the presidency by newspapermen at his home where he had been at work all during the republican convention on decisions to be handed down Monday, probably his last day as an associate justice of the supreme court. He received the news without evident emotion, saying: "I have nothing to say at this time, but will make a statement later in the day."

The justice's secretary announced that a written statement would be issued at 3 o'clock. The news came while Justice Hughes was at lunch with Mrs. Hughes and their two daughters, Miss Katherine and little Miss Elizabeth. The justice at once responded to the request to be interviewed by newspapermen. He said he would have something to say later.

WILSON DEE-LIGHTED
WASHINGTON, June 10.—Word that Justice Hughes and Col. Roosevelt had been nominated by the two conventions in Chicago, was communicated to President Wilson immediately on its receipt here. There was no formal comment but administration supporters were obviously delighted.

T. R. UNANIMOUS CHOICE OF THE PROGRESSIVES

AUDITORIUM, Chicago, June 10, 12:33 p. m.—At the very moment when it was flashed to the progressive convention that Hughes had been nominated at the Coliseum as the standard bearer of the republican party, Chairman Robins of the progressive convention was announcing that Col. Roosevelt had been unanimously nominated as the progressive leader. The convention went wild and there was no way to inform the delegates what had transpired at the Coliseum. For several minutes Chairman Robins vainly rapped for order.

T. R. REFUSES TO TALK
OYSTER BAY, N. Y., June 10.—When informed that the republicans had nominated Justice Hughes and that the progressives had nominated him, Col. Theodore Roosevelt refused to make any comment. He remained secluded in his home at Sagamore Hill.

T. R. SUGGESTS LODGE

NAMES MASSACHUSETTS SENATOR AS COMPROMISE CANDIDATE

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., June 10.—Col. Theodore Roosevelt in a telegram sent this morning to the progressive convention at Chicago suggested the name of Senator Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts as a compromise candidate upon whom both progressives and republicans could unite.

Col. Roosevelt said that at about 5 o'clock this morning he was notified by the progressive conferees that they had come to no conclusion with the republican conferees and that the republican conferees had again asked for any suggestion of a name, as a candidate from the progressive conferees.

He then wrote to the progressive conferees stating that he deeply appreciated their loyalty to him and their efforts to get him nominated, but that he thought the time had come when, carrying out the spirit of the statement of the progressive national committee in January and the statement made by him in Trinidad in February it was their duty to present an alternative name on which he hoped the republicans and progressives could unite.

PREPAREDNESS PARADE

Congressman Rogers Talks With His Chief of Staff — Parade to Form in Davis Square

THE PARADE FUND
Previously acknowledged	$180.00
City Hall employees	102.25
Frank Hancock	10.00
Franklin Nourse	10.00
Dr. Otis Allen	10.00
M. George E. Sackell	2.50

Congressman John Jacob Rogers arrived at city hall this morning and threw himself into the preparedness parade work. He met his chief of staff, Thomas J. O'Donnell, at the headquarters and went over arrangements and plans with him. The congressman allows that the parade is going to be a greater affair than he had anticipated and said the roster was quite a formidable one. He has kept in touch as closely as possible with parade arrangements here and believes that inasmuch as the line of march will not exceed one mile and a half a great many will turn out that might hesitate if the line were longer.

Principal Irish of the high school has made arrangements to call a mass meeting of the boys on Monday morning and Congressman Rogers will address them on the meaning of the Preparedness parade and urge them to participate in it. The congressman thinks it a pity that the high school girls are not going to parade, for he had heard of the splendid showing the girls' battalion made in the streets on high school field day.

All ladies desirous of participating in the parade and of being identified with the women's industrial division are requested by Mrs. H. D. Pickering to assemble at the armory in Westford street, Monday evening at 7.30, when a drill will be held.

The following units, not appearing in the roster already published and from which official notices were not received at headquarters until this morning, will participate. Business men's battalion, High School regiment, Teamsters and Helpers' union, Broadway Social club and Mathew Temperance institute. A notice sent to members of the Mathews by Patrick J. Kane, marshal, contains the following:

At the regular meeting of the Mathew Temperance institute held Tuesday evening, it was unanimously voted that we participate in the Preparedness parade on the evening of June 14. The committee in charge is desirous of turning out in large numbers on that occasion and would urge you as a member by your presence to declare publicly for "preparedness." Aside from the patriotic aspect of the demonstration the Mathews are bound to make a good showing as an organization. Hence our urging you to be with us on that evening. A special meeting of the society will be held on Sunday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock and you are requested to be present and hear the final arrangements.

The Mathews will wear straw hats and white gloves. They will also wear the Mathew badge and it was announced that they would keep open house after the parade.

Representatives of stores and other establishments called at city hall this forenoon for further information concerning the parade. It was stated that the A. G. Pollard Co., would have 150 in line and a representative from the Saco-Lowell shops said they would have at least 1500 men in line and that they had engaged the National band.

Charles J. Morse, commissioner of streets and highways, said that the street and sewer men would turn out and Commissioner Newell E.

Putnam said the water department men are enthusiastic over the parade. Commissioner James E. Donnelly expects that the men of the lands and buildings department will march, but he had no definite information to that effect.

It was stated that the Lowell Gas company had engaged the 8th regiment drum corps and it is expected that there will be several bands from out of town.

General Order No. 4

The chief marshal has issued further orders for the parade, as follows:

Office of the chief marshal, citizens Preparedness parade, City Hall, June 9th.

General orders No. 4.

1.—The headquarters of the chief marshal on the evening of the parade will be at the court house, Gorham street. Tel. 8787.

2.—At 7.45 o'clock the order to march will be given. Divisions must have their formation at that hour.

3.—The parade will march over the following route: Davis square, down Gorham street to Central street to Merrimack street, review at City Hall, to Cabot street, the point of dismissal.

4.—The names of the streets on which the various organizations will march will be announced in papers on Tuesday, June 13.

5.—Mal. Frank Haggerty has been appointed a division marshal.

By order of the chief marshal, THOMAS J. O'DONNELL, Chief of Staff.

Elks Very Enthusiastic

The Lowell lodge of Elks held a meeting last evening and voted unanimously to turn out in the Preparedness parade. The Elks delegation will be headed by Commissioner James E. Donnelly and the Haverhill Military band. Present and past officers will wear silk hats and frock coats and each member will carry a flag. The local lodge of Elks has a membership of 500 and a large delegation is expected to march. Members are requested to report at the Elks headquarters in Middle street promptly at 7 o'clock next Wednesday evening. Following the parade, the Elks will hold flag day exercises in their rooms, to which the public is cordially invited. The committee in charge of the meeting last evening included William Scott, called ruler; E. V. Brown, esteemed leading ruler; Joseph Haggerty, esteemed loyal knight; and C. Fred Gilmore, esteemed lecturing knight.

Business Men's Battalion

Companies A and B of the Business Men's Battalion drilled last night in the high school annex in Paige street in preparation for the parade next Wednesday evening. Militia officers put the men through all sorts of company marching maneuvers. On Tuesday evening Companies C and D will drill at the annex. It is understood that the battalion will assemble for the parade on Wednesday night at the armory.

Knights of Pythias

At a meeting of Chevalier Middlesex lodge, K. of P., held last night, it was voted to turn out for the Preparedness parade next Wednesday night and to march in the Knights of Pythias division.

Navy, Army and Marine

The following appeal to men who have been honorably discharged from the navy, army and marine to participate in the Preparedness parade is self-explanatory:

In the spirit of co-operation H. C. Tucker, chief yeoman, U. S. navy, in charge of the navy recruiting station, 7 Merrimack street, this city, and Arthur Brown, care Riker, Jaynes drug store, Merrimack street, wish to have the men who have been honorably discharged from the navy, army and marine corps, who have the interest of our city at heart, communicate with either of them with the view of having the army and navy well represented in the Preparedness parade. Why not get together and show the citizens of Lowell that the city in the past has always furnished its share of men for the protection of our country both in times of peace as well as war?

Parade Notes

Secretary John H. Murphy of the board of trade has arranged with Agent Wallace G. Farkin of the Boston & Maine to discontinue freight shifting across Merrimack street on the night of the parade during the hours required for the parade.

The marchers will march ten abreast with the lines five feet apart. The leader will be on the right of each line. Watch your leaders!

Loosh Campfire girls of No. Chelmsford, 29 strong, have asked for a place in the parade and they are the first campfire girls to be heard from.

Dr. Joe V. Meigs did not write the very patriotic notice sent to the members of the Yorkick club urging them to join in the parade. A morning paper credited him with it. "Red blood in his veins," are words appearing in the call in question, and Dr. Meigs says those words alone are enough to prove that the call was not written by a doctor, for a doctor would know that the red blood is in the arteries and not in the veins.

EPIDEMIC OF MEASLES CAUSES FOUR DEATHS

Ninety-Five New Cases This Week — Leaks in Sand Filter Stopped — City Hall News

Measles are epidemic in Lowell. Ninety-five cases were reported this week and there were four deaths from measles. The number of cases reported last week was 65 as compared with 73 for the week previous. Measles gained a great foothold in Lowell several weeks ago but the number of cases reported this week exceeded all previous weeks.

The total number of deaths from various diseases during the week was 33 as against 26 last week and 36 the week previous. The death rate for the week was 18.5 as against 12.73 last week and 17.51 the week previous.

The number of deaths under five years of age was 14. There were seven deaths from infectious diseases, three from acute lung diseases, one from scarlet fever, four from measles and one from tuberculosis. The number of infectious diseases reported was as follows: Diphtheria 2, scarlet fever 3, measles 55, tuberculosis 4.

The Filter Plant

Mr. Frank Gow of the Gow Construction company came to Lowell during the week to supervise the repairs to the sand filters at the Sewerage and Sanitation plant that developed a leakage of over 500,000 gallons a day. Only one of the six sand filters has as yet been tested, and Commissioner Putnam stated this morning that the leak in this filter has been reduced to a leakage less than that allowed in the contract. It is stated in the contract that in the settling basins, sand filters and filtered water reservoir a loss of one-quarter of an inch in 24 hours will be permitted. The sand filter repaired and tested is known as sand filter number five. The leak in this filter was in the collection pipes which have been recalculated and pointed out that the leakage now, according to Mr. Putnam, is less than one-quarter of an inch in 24 hours.

The Sun has gone into the matter of the contractor's responsibility in the matter on several occasions, but so many questions have been asked that it seems as if another explanation is necessary. There is still nearly $5000 due the contractor and that money will not be paid until the plant has been accepted by the city. Mayor O'Donnell in a letter to Mr. Gow dated May 22 so informed him and called his attention to article 27 of the contract which states that the contractor shall keep the work in good repair for the term of six months after the date of the final estimate (Dec. 1, 1915) and shall correct and repair promptly during that time all breaks and failures due to faulty material or workmanship, and all settlement and irregularities of surface.

Taxes for 1914

The time for the payment of real estate taxes for 1914 closed at 12.30 p. m., today. The real estate on which taxes for 1914 have not been paid will be advertised in the daily papers beginning on Monday next.

McGRAW MAY TRY TO MAKE THIRD BASEMAN OUT OF OUTFIELDER BURNS

NEW YORK, June 10.—Manager Johnny McGraw of the New York Giants says he is going to try and make a third baseman out of George Burns. While Mac considers Burns a great outfielder he also believes he will develop into a wonderful third sacker with the proper coaching and experience. He also wishes it known that Bill McKechnie has played good ball at third and his hitting has been heavy and there is no danger of him being removed at present, but Mac states he has an eye on the future. He says that if the opportunity pops up he will give Burns a chance to show his ability on bag No. 3 this season. Picture shows Burns waiting to nail a Texas leaguer.

MESSRS. HARRIS AND STURTEVANT RECEIVED DEGREES IN NEWTON SEMINARY

The 21st anniversary of the founding of the Newton Theological Institution of Newton Centre was observed on Thursday, the occasion being the largest graduating class in the history of the institution, there being 30 students who received diplomas. ## MELROSE CASE

Police at Standstill—Inquest Halted—Hunt for Clues Renewed

BOSTON, June 10.—Police investigation of the murder of 7-year-old Loretta Winifred Wakelin of Melrose came practically to a standstill yesterday.

The inquest into the slaying of the child, conducted by Dist. Atty. William L. Corcoran of Middlesex county before Judge E. Leroy Sweetser in the Malden district court, was abruptly adjourned before noon, despite the fact that there were many witnesses still to be examined.

Further inquiry at this time, however, was deemed to be futile, and Mr. Corcoran determined to wait until the last of next week before continuing the inquest.

In the meantime, State Officers Silas P. Smith and Thomas F. Eustace, with Chief Kerr of the Melrose police and private detectives working under the direction of the district attorney, intend to go over every inch of the wooded countryside of the scene of the crime. Early yesterday morning, before the inquest was resumed at 9 o'clock, Mr. Corcoran, accompanied by Judge Sweetser and Officer Smith, visited the place where the body was found a week ago last Thursday and spent about an hour scouring about the neighborhood of the Wakelin home.

Later after the inquest, however, police activity ceased. It will be resumed today. And among other things it will take up again the movements on the day of the crime of the self-confessed slayer, Harold Mead, and his chum, Harold Shaw, who are still being held in connection with the murder on a technical charge of larceny, in the East Cambridge jail.

Dist. Atty. Corcoran desires to make certain for all time whether or not the alibi of the boys is substantiated, and, if so, whether or not it would not have been possible for them to be in certain places at the time they say they were, and still have been near the scene of the crime at the time the murder was committed.

Mr. Corcoran is also very anxious to locate the driver of the automobile that was morning the murder. He feels that this man, to whom no suggestions might be able to give the police some valuable information as to persons who may have been in the vicinity that Thursday morning.

Yesterday's session of the inquest opened with examination of Arthur G. Ledwith, district traffic manager of the New England Telephone & Telegraph company. He testified concerning the record of the calls received by Chief Kerr notifying him of the little girl's disappearance and of her murder. He was followed by Patrolman William Doherty of the Melrose police, one of the first officers to reach the place where the body was found. These two men were the only witnesses.

MAY BE FAIR SUNDAY

But the Forecaster Can See Nothing But Unsettled, and Maybe Showers Today

BOSTON, June 10.—Raincoats and umbrellas will continue necessary through the next 12 hours, since the best the forecaster can promise for today is unsettled weather, probably with occasional showers.

Tomorrow's weather, however, will in his opinion be generally fair with a somewhat higher temperature, moderate easterly to southerly winds prevailing. The precipitation yesterday measured practically an inch.

GREEK KING FORCED TO YIELD

Disbanding of 150,000, Half the Army, Canceled by Allies' Embargo—Athens Government in Danger

PARIS, June 10.—The demobilization of the Greek army is regarded here as the direct outcome of the energetic representations by the allied governments to King Constantine, followed by an embargo virtually closing Greek ports.

Demobilization of 12 classes means the sending back to civil life of 150,000 men, or half the Greek army. Mobilization has been unpopular owing to its harmful economic effects. The government hopes disbanding of the troops will gratify a large number of Premier Venizelos's supporters who desire to recover their civil rights.

A despatch from Athens says the action caused general rejoicing. It is not thought in Athens that the present government will be able to continue in power after the army is disbanded.

THE SPELLBINDER

The indications are that there will be hundreds of women in the parade on next Wednesday evening, and hence a word to them before it is too late. Commissioner Morse prides himself on the smoothness of his smooth-tongued streets, and he does so rightfully. But the streets through which the parade will pass on next Wednesday evening, while smooth as smooth streets go, are paved with granite blocks, and granite blocks will do an awfully destructive job on tiny feet that are encased in delicately-made shoes, or shoes with French heels. The wisecracks of the Business Men's battalion already are preparing for the coming event by purchasing army shoes, made especially for marching, and hence it would be well for the ladies to supply themselves with stout shoes with common-sense heels, for the march. The route of parade will not be long; in fact it will be comparatively short on account of the lateness of the hour and the desire to confine it to the bright, lighted streets. Yet walking over pavements is a hard job, if one is not appropriately "shod."

Within the past few days many inquiries have been made at city hall relative to the means of getting out of town late at night, after the parade is over, and inquiries have come from Boston. This would indicate that many out of town visitors will be in town next Wednesday, to see the show, and while many will remain here overnight, there are others who will come if they can get home the same night. The little regard for the discipline of the department, or for himself, for practically every citizen in Lowell knows that such a statement is a libel on a large majority of the members of the department and the records thereof will prove the fact. In some official minds the capturing of juvenile crooks, shooters, baseball pool-sellers or disreputable women is the height of police efficiency. Recently a fine bit of police work in which Sergt. Patrie was connected, drew forth a letter of commendation from an insurance company which was saved money by the recovery of certain valuable stolen property, but the matter wasn't considered worthy of public notice. But capture a couple of notorious women who advertise themselves, or a party of youngsters shooting crap, and the achievements of Sherlock Holmes sink into insignificance.

Conditions in Police Department A published statement said to have emanated from police headquarters to the effect that there are only three members of the department who are loyal to the superintendent and who can be depended upon to carry out his orders relative to law enforcement doesn't speak very well for the superintendent, if out of 135 men there are but three, and one of the three only a supernumerary, who can be depended upon there must be something radically wrong in the police department. Either 132 men are at fault or else the superintendent is at fault, but whoever gave out the statement had little regard for the discipline of the department, or for himself, for practically every citizen in Lowell knows that such a statement is a libel on a large majority of the members of the department and the records thereof will prove the fact. FLAG DAY OBSERVANCE

FLAG DRILL A FEATURE OF THE EXERCISES—ADDRESS BY REV. MR. SKINNER

The members of Mary E. Smith tent, Daughters of Veterans, held a flag day observance in Post 130 hall last night. There were many members of Post 120, G.A.R. present as guests, as were also Spanish War Veterans, Sons of Veterans, women's auxiliary posts and other patriotic organizations.

Rev. A. C. Skinner, pastor of St. Paul's M. E. church, delivered an eloquent address on the flag and read a poem suitable to the spirit of the occasion. One of the features of the evening was a drill in which 16 girls participated and went through intricate evolutions under the direction of Mrs. Ethelena Curtis.

A band drill by a group of Camp Fire Girls also added greatly to the attractiveness of the program, which was made complete with songs by Miss Grace Marinielli; the recitation of a poem by Dorothy Whitten and the singing of "America" and a salute to the flag by the entire audience. Following the program of the evening, refreshments of ice cream and cake were served. Arrangements for the evening were under the general direction of Miss Ella Hodson, patriotic instructor of the tent, who received many compliments over the success of the occasion. The young women who took part in the drills were as follows:

Downey's Finger Prints The fact that finger prints of two men arrested in this city, taken and classified by Deputy Downey, led to the identification of the culprits, would indicate that the department is still safe, in relation to this important feature of its efficiency.

Production and Price

Do the great variety of Sixes and the fluctuating prices seem confusing and perplexing?

Let's reason it out.

What controls price? Production.

As a manufacturer's production increases, his production cost, per car, decreases.

Therefore the plant with the largest production is in a position to give more of everything and charge less for it.

We are the world's largest producers of Six and Four Cylinder Automobiles.

Consequently you get in the Overland Six a larger and more powerful motor—a longer wheelbase—the convenience of electric control buttons on the steering column and an almost endless list of other comforts and refinements.

—yet what is the price?

Not $1200 or $1300 but $1145.

And when it comes to a Six Cylinder performance, remember the Overland Six is the star of them all.

One ride will convince you.

LOWELL WOMAN SUES LAWRENCE MAN FOR DEATH RESULTING FROM ACCIDENT

Ida M. Richardson of this city has filed a suit against John F. Shackleton of Lawrence for the sum of $15,000 for the death of Chester M. Richardson last September.

While Mr. Shackleton was driving his automobile on the Lowell road one day in September a man stepped from a moving electric car and was struck by the auto. Richardson was walking home from church, and before the Shackleton car was stopped he, too, was struck, and died soon after being removed to the hospital. The man who first struck by the machine died later.

physique plays a big part, is seen as the modern cave man, stealing a woman whom he loves, and carrying her away to a rustic justice of the peace, to marry her. The women in the case is a social butterfly, who abhors anything savouring of the primitive. Her life has been one long artificiality up to that time, even though her father, a rugged man, has always hoped that she would marry a real man. But everything breaks well, for a music hall performer, who had cared for the cave man, appeared, and sought to win back her lover. This the wife protested against, and then it was that she first knew she loved her abductor. This story is told in six acts, and the photography is of the finest possible kind. It is a typical fine production, from first to last. The comedy feature is supplied by Charles Murray in "A Game Old Knight," and it is the wildest sort of fun. COLISEUM, June 10.—The roll for the third ballot was ordered.

COLISEUM, 12:40 p. m.—Senator Lodge today declined to comment on the suggestion made by Col. Roosevelt, that he be considered as a compromise presidential candidate.

COLISEUM, 12:58 p. m.—The chair asked if the nomination should be made unanimous and recognized A. P. Moore of Pennsylvania, who moved it be so made.

COLISEUM, June 10.—Lodge made an eloquent appeal for Hughes in seconding the motion for unanimity.

COLISEUM, 1:04 p. m.—The chair announced the nomination of candidates for the vice-presidency was next in order of business and the clerks started the call.

COLISEUM, 1:06 p. m.—Colorado yielded to Pennsylvania and John Wanamaker placed Fairbanks in nomination.

COLISEUM, 1:20 p. m.—Gov. Willis of Ohio seconded Fairbanks' nomination and the convention cheered.

Inated Justice Hughes. There also was an early meeting of the republican and progressive peace conferees. Although the skies cleared and decisive balloting on a nominee for president was expected, delegates to the republican national convention gathered slowly. There were many vacant spaces on the floor until 11 a. m., the time for convening although the galleries were well filled. Eleven o'clock passed and the convention was not in order.

The weary delegates were enthusiastic at the prospect that this would be the last day of the convention. The over night switch of some of the favorite sons' delegates filled the Hughes men with exultation.

RELEASE DELEGATES

Senator Weeks and Sherman Out of Race—Others Follow—Drift Toward Justice Hughes

CHICAGO, June 10.—Senator Weeks of Massachusetts today released his delegates. On the first ballot yesterday Weeks received 105 votes.

The announcement of Senator Weeks' withdrawal followed closely on the news that Sherman had released his delegates. The decision of the Weeks and Sherman leaders to abandon their candidates and in the case of Illinois to support Justice Hughes became known early and had a potential influence in deciding the course of the followers of other favorite son candidates.

Senator Weeks announced without hesitation that he would no longer continue the fight and when pressed for a statement said simply that he had informed his supporters that while greatly appreciating their loyalty, he desired now that they should cast their votes for some other candidate.

A large part of the Massachusetts delegation indicated they would stay with Weeks until the end, but it is understood that his supporters from other states generally will be for Justice Hughes.

No one would undertake to speak specifically for Senator Fairbanks' followers, but it is quite well understood that they would no longer press the senator's candidacy.

Senator Burton's adherents are disposed to go down with banners flying. Leaders declare that Ohio is not easily influenced by appearances and say that at any rate nothing is to be gained by a change at this time.

Before the time set for the republican convention it seemed probable that most of the New York delegates who have cast their votes for Senator Root will continue their allegiance to the end.

The Sherman following is expected to go almost solidly to Hughes and most of the Cummings delegates, especially outside of Iowa, will follow in this direction.

There is a peculiar contest on over the vice-presidency. The two men most prominently mentioned in this connection are Mr. Fairbanks and Senator Borah of Idaho. Neither of the men wants the position.

ITALIAN TRANSPORT SUNK

Torpedoed by Austrian Submarine—The Russians Continue to Advance—Other War News

GERMAN WARSHIP POMMERN SUNK IN NAVAL BATTLE WAS A NEW CRUISER

LONDON, June 10.—The German warship Pommern which was sunk in the battle off Jutland was the battleship of that name, but a recently completed battle cruiser, according to a Copenhagen despatch to the Exchange Telegraph. It was a frequent visitor to German ports. The battleship, which was completed in 1905, was torpedoed in the Baltic in July, 1915, according to the report.

Admiralty officials here have expressed their belief to a representative of the Associated Press that the Pommern which was sunk in the great naval battle was a new capital ship. They point out that the commander of a British submarine reported that he torpedoed the old battleship Pommern in July, 1915, and this report, they claim, was confirmed by survivors of the battleship who were landed wearing her cap band.

The sinking of a German battleship in the Baltic by a British submarine was officially announced in the house of commons on July 21, 1915. It was stated at the time that the ship was believed to have been the Pommern, but this was promptly denied by the German government. After the Jutland battle the German admiralty denied that the Pommern actually was a new ship.

LORD KITCHENER EXPECTED AN EARLY END OF THE WAR

LONDON, June 10.—Lord Kitchener looked for an early end of the war, according to a G. Gardner, in an article published by the Daily News, he says:

"I am told on good authority that a few days before the end, which came upon him so swiftly and silently, Lord Kitchener said he had revised his estimate of the duration of the war. He had calculated that it would last three years. He now thought that estimate excessive, and looked for an earlier close."

LONDON, June 10.—Earl Kitchener and his staff escaped from the sinking Hampshire, and were drowned while trying to make their way to shore, according to an Aberdeen despatch. Hope has not been given up that other survivors have reached one of the uninhabited rocky islands of the Orkney group.

RUSSIAN FORCES ARE ADVANCING—65,357 PRISONERS TAKEN

PETROGRAD, June 10.—The official communication issued by the Russian war office yesterday follows:

"The battle continues in Volhynia and Galicia, the Germans trying to check the development of our offensive. German reinforcements have arrived from the Russian north and Poland. Many Germans are among the prisoners taken."

"Despite the stubborn resistance of the enemy in many places, our offensive continues on the whole front from the Carpathian marshes to the Rumanian frontier."

"Our cavalry led the attack in many sectors. Among the episodes during the fighting were: First, near Souk, east of Lutsk, a squadron of Cossacks attacked the enemy behind the fortifications and captured two guns and 200 boxes of ammunition, second, near Boriatino, southeast of Lutsk, our skirmishers captured two 10-centimeter guns, four officers and 150 men, and near Dobratino, on the Ikwa below Mylnoff, another 10-centimeter gun and 35 caissons. In another sector the booty included 50 cylinders of asphyxiating gas."

"Our young soldiers are rivaling their elders in pluck and courage. One such division of young troops in an impetuous attack at Opolichenie drove the enemy back on the Styr and captured the bridgehead near the town of Rozschuchy. They took 2500 Germans and Austrian prisoners together with machine guns and rich booty."

"We have crossed the Stripa river and our troops have reached the river Zlota Lipa at Polok."

"While directing the action in one of the sectors of our offensive General Mikolajew was seriously wounded. The number of our prisoners is constantly increasing. In addition to the 65,357 officers and over 51,000 men already announced we took in the course of yesterday's fighting an additional 153 officers and 12,714 men, making our total of captures in the recent operations 115,000 officers and 647,147 men."

"Wednesday evening enemy artillery bombarded violently the regions northeast of Krevo and south of Smorgon. Subsequently the bombardment extended further north and Thursday night the enemy, in strong force, opened an offensive, but all his attempts to approach our positions were repulsed. In the region of the Molodchyn station an enemy aeroplane dropped four bombs. Five German aviators raided the town of Logichine, north of Pinsk, dropping 50 bombs. One of the machines was brought down by our artillery inside the German lines."

"Caucasian front.—In the Trebizond region our skirmishes routed the Turks from a convent south of the village of Horoktop. In the direction of Gumichkahn our detachments penetrated enemy positions, capturing prisoners and much war material. We repulsed an enemy counter-attack."

REPORT GERMAN BATTLE CRUISER DERFFLINGER SUNK REITERATED

LONDON, June 10.—The report that the German battle cruiser Derfflinger has been sunk is reiterated in an Amsterdam despatch to the Exchange Telegraph Co. It says that travelers arriving in Amsterdam from Berlin assert that they were told in Germany that the Derfflinger sank after the North sea battle while being towed to Wilhelmshaven.

The British admiralty announced the Derfflinger was believed to have been sunk, but the loss of this warship was denied by the German admiralty.

FROM THE WAR TRENCHES

LOWELL SOLDIER WRITES FROM EASTERN FRONT UNDER FRENCH COLORS—LEAVES HOSPITAL

The families and close relatives of the Lowell soldiers, who are fighting under the French colors in the trenches of France, are anxiously awaiting the result of the bill introduced in the legislature of France, calling for a certificate of French citizenship for all foreign countries, who are French subjects, and who are fighting under the French colors. If this bill is enacted it will mean that several hundred soldiers whose homes are in Canada and the states will be returned to their families for probably a month and perhaps more.

This bit of news was received this week by a woman in this city, whose husband has been in the French trenches for almost two years. This soldier, who has seen continuous and strenuous fighting since the outbreak of the war, and who was recently badly wounded, has asked the French government for a furlough of a couple of months in order to visit his family in this city and also recuperate fully from his wounds, and he was informed of the filing of the above bill.

Letters are being received weekly in this city from the trenches, but no detailed account of battles is given. All letters pass the board of censors and are cut down almost to nothing. Mrs. Emile Vandembucke of Tilden street is in receipt of a letter from her husband, who has just left the hospital after being treated for wounds received at the battle of Verdun. The Lowell soldier informs his wife that he has spent a short

PROGRESSIVES

Col. Roosevelt's message to the progressive in which he suggested Senator Lodge as a compromise candidate, is thought by his friends to preclude his approval of Justice Hughes' nomination and especially as the latter failed to make known his position on the question of the so-called hyper-ated issue in advance of the action of the republican convention.

It is confidently believed, however, that Col. Roosevelt will accept the nomination. His friends looked for a statement from him to this effect later in the day.

STORMY MEETING

Several Chairmen Impelled That George W. Perkins Was Not For Roosevelt To Last Trench

CHICAGO, June 10.—At 9 o'clock this morning George W. Perkins, Governor Hiram Johnson and other progressive leaders were in close conference with Chairman Robins and there were rumors among the progressive delegates that a report of some kind was in preparation, the word having gone round to have them in their seats early, so that the convention could meet sharp at 10:20.

George W. Perkins left the conference to go to a meeting of the republican state chairmen remained in the conference. It was said no word had yet come from Col. Roosevelt as to whether he would accept a progressive nomination if the republican convention nominated Justice Hughes.

After the conference had been in session some time, Governor George W. Perkins and General Bonaparte left the club in a taxicab for an unannounced destination.

"We still are in negotiation," Mr. Perkins said. "I can't say more now."

After a brief conference Mr. Perkins returned to the waiting stand chairman and made a report which was not disclosed. He indicated that he might have another conference with the republican conferees.

William Allen White of Kansas predicted that before the progressive convention was in session five minutes Col. Roosevelt would be nominated. Mr. Perkins would not say whether he was not unanimous for him, standing three for Hughes and two against him; but that at this morning's conference the republicans were unanimous for Hughes.

AUDITORIUM, 11:22 a. m.—Col. Roosevelt's telegram suggesting Senator Lodge of Massachusetts as a second choice to offer to the republicans as a compromise candidate was greeted with shouts of "no, no."

AUDITORIUM, 11:25 a. m.—Henry Allen, a progressive leader, said before the convention opened:

"We will not wait until the republicans act."

"No," said Allen, who seemed to think there would be three parties in the field.

AUDITORIUM, 11:27 a. m.—"The convention will never start for a compromise," Gov. Johnson said during the reading of Col. Roosevelt's telegram. "It will nominate Roosevelt."

AUDITORIUM, 11:30 a. m.—Gov. Johnson did not come to the platform with the other conferees. He occupied a seat in the extreme rear of the hall with the California delegates.

AUDITORIUM, 11:33 a. m.—Chairman Perkins was greeted with a demonstration of approval when he said: "I may have done well or may have done poorly" in the conference. His statement that Col. Roosevelt may be acting well or unwisely was received in silence.

AUDITORIUM, 11:36 a. m.—When Mr. Perkins concluded by urging the convention to abide by Col. Roosevelt's request and defer action until the other convention passed on the suggestion of Senator Lodge as a compromise candidate, the delegates shouted "That's right; that's right."

AUDITORIUM, 11:40 a. m.—When the demonstration following Parker's address had been silenced, the platform was formally adopted without roll call

THE EMERY BALL

Big Ed. Sweeney Reveals Story About Russ Ford

The history of the emery ball, as told by Ed Sweeney, Toledo catcher, and one of the arch conspirators in the mystifying stunts of the phenomenal shoot, forms one of the greatest stories ever heard in connection with the game.

There's romance behind the emery ball, discovered by Russ Ford, one of baseball's most brilliant pitchers. It presents a tale of mystery and years of secrecy.

Ed Sweeney, who caught this shoot no batter can hit, says this is the first time the inside story has ever been published.

It began back early in 1907 at Atlanta, where Ford and Sweeney were the crack battery for this Southern league team. One day while Sweeney was catching Ford in a warm-up stunt before a game, Russ made a wild peg and the ball bounded into a concrete pillar.

Ed Sweeney, who caught this shoot no batter can hit, says this is the first time the inside story has ever been published.

"I don't know anything about it," explains Sweeney, "but after that I noticed the ball breaking in a peculiar way. I remarked about it to Ford, but he didn't appear interested. I never saw it again that season."

"I was purchased that summer by the Yankees. Owner Farrell came to me one day and asked who was the best pitcher in the Southern league. I told him Ford. And Russ was drafted."

"The next spring Ford and I went south together to join the Yankees. On the train Russ told me he had a ball no catcher in the world could receive. I laughed at him. But he persisted and told me he would explain when we reached the training camp."

"Once there he took me into his confidence and explained the emery ball. He said he had experimented with it the entire previous season, but had not mentioned it. He was telling me because he wanted me to catch him, and he knew I couldn't get away with it unless I knew what was coming."

"Russ showed me a little leather ring that he slipped over a finger on his left hand. Like most players' gloves his mitt had a big hole in it. All he had to do was to scratch the ball with the emery, which was pasted on the leather. The concrete had given Ford the tip."

"The bigger the scratch the greater the freak jumps the ball would take. But Ford Russ merely scraped a part of the ball. And he never used the shoot except in a pinch. He would fake a splitter and nobody ever got wise. When he pitched he always requested that I catch him."

"When Russ threw the ball, with runners on or in pinches, no batter in the world could hit it. Once in a while somebody did, but it was by accident. Ford could break the ball two ways, in and down, and out and up. Two seasons later after batter missed the ball a foot."

"When Gardner reported to Toledo in 1912 he gave the secret to C. Falkenberg. Fans in Toledo will remember what a wonderful year Cy had in the association. And the following season in the American league Falky was just as strong. I batted against him one day, saw the break and knew he had the ball. But I didn't let on."

TWO LOCAL SWIMMERS

TIM MALONEY AND FRANK MURPHY WILL COMPETE IN BIG EVENT AT LAKEVIEW

Lowell will be represented in the 15-mile fresh water endurance race to be held at Lakeview Sunday, June 18, by Timothy Maloney, who has twice accomplished the Charlestown Bridge-Boston Light grind, and Frank Murphy, a well known local swimmer who counts among his accomplishments the swim from Beverly to the Graves. It is not believed that Henry Sullivan, champion national long distance swimmer, will compete. Sullivan says that he has nothing to gain by entering such a race and would rather save his energy for a more important event.

DIAMOND DAZZLES

Washington won its first game since May 27 yesterday on an overthrow by Pitcher Mitchell of the Cleveland team. Since that date the former leaders lost seven and tied two games. Walter Johnson was the winning pitcher.

But three games were played in the big leagues yesterday and all were played in the American organization. Rain and cold weather was experienced nearly everywhere.

Umpire Hildebrand failed to call a perfect strike on Burns of the Tigers yesterday. It is said, which should have been the third strike. Then Burns tripped and scored three runs which beat the Red Sox.

The Braves have signed Fred Bailey, the Washington and Lee university star. Bailey was considered the best college ball player in the south this season and at least 12 major league clubs were after him. He is a slugger and plays first base or the outfield. In 1915 he interrupted the ball at a 390 clip against the best college pitchers in the east and south.

Hal Chase continues his timely hitting. Hal has a knack of doing the right thing at the right time that marks him as a winning player. He is covering his position in the outfield as if he had never played anywhere else in his life.

Connie Mack has signed Walter Whitaker, one of the most sought after college pitchers in the country. Whitaker has been hurling remarkable ball for the Tufts college nine, which lays claim to the eastern title. When he is not flinging, Whitaker can take his turn in the outfield. Floyd Krepps, the Tufts southpaw, is also said to be tied up with Mack.

Percy Haughton has contributed the baseball idea of making it three balls instead of four for a pass to first. Ty Cobb thinks this would mean the advent of the 500 hitter. Tris Speaker says that while this scheme would likely make more runs and considerably handicap the pitcher, the 500 hitter is like the nine-second 100-yard sprinter. "He may be coming, but he is a long way off." It is not likely that the Haughton idea will be realized much before the appearance of the nine-second man.

Report has it that Slim Sallee, the St. Louis southpaw, will soon become a member of the Giants. This story is revived at least twice every season, but this time it appears to have some foundation. The Brittons have been experiencing a bad financial season in St. Louis, and are said to be willing to let Slim go to the highest bidder. They know that McGraw has been anxious to get the sheriff, and just now would not doubt make a big offer for him. It is also reported that the St. Louis club is on the market.

Clarence Mitchell, who subdued the Giants in the first game of the Red series, is one of the "funds" of the season, according to Charley Herzog. Not only is he a good pitcher, but he is a regular ball player and a terrific hitter.

Eddie Grant, former utility infielder of the Giants, who now is engaged as a scout by McGraw, will be seen in action each Sunday for the remainder of the season at Degnan and. Eddie signed with the Degnan Grays last Saturday. He will replace "Moose" McCormick. Grant will play third base for the Degnons this Sunday against the Morristown A.A.

Every major league club having waived on him, Doc Crandall was yesterday released by the St. Louis Americans to the Oakland club of the Pacific Coast league. Just what Oley will do with Oakland is a problem. A tendency to take on flesh rapidly has made Crandall almost as round as Whitworth Robinson and he's hardly in condition to take his turn in the box. Crandall is a good hitter, and might be used in the outfield or as a pinch swatter. Crandall joined the Giants in 1908 from the wilds of Iowa and made good, both as a hurler and a pinch hitter. A season ago last winter he hopped to the St. Louis Federal and when that club was amalgamated with the Browns, Doc was retained. Crandall was well-liked in New York.

Albert Nebes of this city last night broke the tape in the 10-mile race with Willie Blackburn of Chicago, finishing with a lead of 36 minutes and 30 seconds. The race was one of the closest and most exciting ever seen in this city. For the first six miles both skaters remained almost side by side. Then Nebes sprinted and gradually gained on the Chicago boy until at the end of the race he led by three-quarters of a lap.

ACADEMY RECORDS BROKEN

WEST POINT, N. Y., June 10.—Two military academy records were broken today at the annual outdoor athletic meet of the Cadet Corps, which was held on the Plains, despite a drizzling rain and a muddy field.

Cadet Clarence S. Mautsby of Washington state, established a new American record in the running mile jump, clearing the bar at 5 feet 10.65 inches. Cadet William H. Britton of Iowa smashed the running broad jump record with 22 feet 5.5 inch.

Both records formerly were held by P. A. Hodgson. The meet was won by the class of 1917. The new record holders are members of the graduating class.

EASTERN LEAGUE COMMENT

For the second day in succession all games in the Eastern League were postponed yesterday which means additional double-headers later in the season. This week has been even more disastrous to club managers than the first week of the New England league teams returned to their home grounds after the trip through the Connecticut cities when it rained steadily for several days and caused continual postponements. Lowell played but one game in the first five days of the week, all others being called off on account of the weather. The same was true of other clubs. When the league officials made out the schedule they arranged to have the teams from this section remain in the "southern" part of the circuit for the first 10 days or two weeks, believing that the weather would be warmer and more favorable when the season was opened in this vicinity. The cities in Connecticut and the best of the weather, however, and not many games were postponed.

Doc Munn will be out of the game for more than a week, it is thought, as a result of being hit in the eye with a ball during practice in Portland on Wednesday. Two balls were batted down his way at the same time. He started to field one, not noticing the other and was hit in the eye. A doctor was called to repair the damage and then Munn watched the game out of one eye from the bench.

Marty Walsh, brother of Big Ed Walsh, has been suspended by the Bridgeport club because he is not in condition. The big pitcher has gone to his home in New York, and declares that after he returns he will twist better than ever. "I guess the rest will do me good," Marty remarked after he had been notified that his pay was suspended.

A despatch from Bridgeport says that Jake Boutles is now captain of a Remington Arms Co. team in the Factory league of that city. Playing first base on the same team is an old companion, Jack Halstein, former Lowell player. Both of these players are now gunmakers in the Connecticut city. Halstein is playing his first game today, and Boutles will not be eligible to participate in a game until a week from today under the rules. Jake has always been a great favorite in Bridgeport and fans are glad to see him in a baseball uniform of some kind.

Jack Halstein has been employed at the Remington Arms work for some time. He has heard the sound of the baseball call but has not yet responded. In fact, Jack has talked terms with clubs in the Eastern league, but he doesn't want to give up his job at the factory unless he is sure of obtaining a steady berth on a ball club. As nothing is sure in baseball, Halstein is remaining at his post in Bridgeport. While the league undoubtedly possesses some good players and offers a good brand of semi-professional baseball, it seems that Bridgeport fans will want the best they can get and will not abandon the Eastern League to see the men who have failed to make good in the organization play in a Factory league.

Though the Eastern league season is now six weeks along, the Lowell and Worcester teams have not yet met in a single game, or no game has been scheduled between these teams. This is another peculiar fact in the Eastern schedule. Lowell plays Worcester for the first time at Worcester on June 16. At this time Lowell will have met Lawrence eight times and every other team in the league six or seven times. Billy Hamilton's aggregation is much faster now than it was a few weeks back and Lowell will not find it as easy picking as some of the other teams did earlier in the season.

Unless Bridgeport and New Haven are backed and some live talent secured, the prospects are that the fans in both of these cities will kick the traces. Each team is decidedly weak and in order to keep in line with the policy of the other magnates of the league will have to show more life or else the league as well as the men behind these clubs will suffer.—Worcester Post.

Harry Lord was given a traveling bag by the fans of his home town at Portland. This is the second gift of its kind to Eastern league players at the Duffy home this year. Probably suitcases and such make an impression on the Maine public because of their usefulness in a dry state.—Exchange.

James E. Keady, the new Eastern league umpire, is a brother of Tom Keady, the former Dartmouth coach and at present athletic coach at Lehigh university. He was also part owner of the Manchester club in the New England league last season. "Jim" Keady has worked for several years as an umpire in the Twin State league and gave satisfaction.

REFUSE TO RACE SUNDAY

CHICAGO, June 10.—It was said today that Artie, Merr, Anderson and Wilcox, Rickenbacker and Henderson have been ordered by their backers to withdraw from the Chicago automobile race which has been postponed until Sunday. Opposition to Sunday racing is said to have caused the withdrawals.

TIN CAN SOUNDS

Lowell Drops Horsey—Postponements Hit Owners Hard

The sound of the tin can was heard for the first time in several weeks in the office of the local baseball club this forenoon when "Hank" Horsey, who hails from somewhere down in Maryland, was presented with his release papers by Manager Harry Lord. Though Horsey twirled good ball for the Manchester club a year ago he failed to show any reason why he should be retained by the local team in several try-outs this season. He has not been able to go through an entire game in the box. This leaves the team with four pitchers which is about three too many unless the weather changes.

The rain today made a stinging climate for the hardest week that club owners in these parts have experienced for many seasons. Almost in the middle of June when things should progress nicely, so far as baseball weather is concerned, we have had about one solid week of rain. Starting Monday and Tuesday games scheduled to be played here were postponed. Wednesday Lowell managed to play a game in Portland though the weather was by no means propitious. Thursday the Lowell team was "rained" out of Portland and yesterday J. Phivius continued to reign and the team did not even journey to Lawrence, where it was scheduled to play. And today, when it was hoped some reimbursement for the week's expenses would be made, the rain fell as steadily as ever and the Lawrence game was called off.

Lowell split even for the week so far as guarantee money was concerned. The owners paid $200 to Hugh Duffy Monday and Jesse Burkett collected his 100 simultaneous today. Wednesday at Portland Lowell collected only its $100 and Thursday and Friday it did the same. This means that the players' salaries, traveling expenses, cost of the grounds and numerous other sundries for the week all come out of the owners' pockets.

Lowell is scheduled to play three games at home and four away next week. Monday Jesse Burkett is our guest and if the weather permits a game it is up to the fans to turn out. Jack Flynn's crack Springfield nine is here Tuesday for one game only. Wednesday the Lordlings go to Lynn and Thursday Lou Pieper plays a return game at Spaulding park. Friday and Saturday Lowell is at Worcester, a double-header being on schedule for Friday.

SOME SPLENDID GIFTS

THE GOOKIN FURNITURE CO., PRESCOTT STREET IS MAKING SOME SPECIAL OFFERINGS

One of the most pleasurable tasks—if it can be so called—for the bride-to-be is the preparation and the furnishing of the home to which she is to go after her honeymoon. Never is a girl more fastidious and critical than at this time, for she takes notice of every detail in the selection of what is going to make up the cozy little home for two; and perhaps in all the demands more of her attention than the furniture. It was with a knowledge of this fact that Mr. William Gookin, proprietor of the Gookin Furniture company, Prescott street, bought the goods which he is offering during the month of June—the month of brides. Among the many appropriate articles of furniture offered are mahogany dressers, parlor suites, library tables, buffets, dining chairs with leather seats with a wide enough range of prices to suit everyone. Those who are in a quandary as to what to buy for the wedding gift for a dear friend soon to be married will do well to inspect the many articles which can be obtained at this well known furniture house in Prescott street.

Mrs. Taylor's House—Divorce Trial Brings Curious Crowd to Court

WOODSVILLE, N. H., June 10.—A curious crowd filled all available seats in the superior court room here yesterday owing to the divorce case of Carl E. Taylor vs. Emma C. Taylor, and counter bill by Mrs. Taylor for separate maintenance.

Among those who testified yesterday were Mrs. Taylor, Harry Wing, steward of the Mt. Washington hotel, one of the correspondents named by Mr. Taylor; William L. Wade, Boston & Maine conductor, the other correspondent named by Mr. Taylor, and Mrs. Eliza Higgins.

Mrs. Higgins, who occupied the same tenement with the Taylors in 1905, testified to numerous visits made by Mr. Wade to the home of Mrs. Taylor at night, when Mr. Taylor was absent. The calls usually lasted several hours, according to the witness.

On one occasion she said she was curious to know just how long he stayed, so she fastened some tin cans on the stairway. When he came down stairs the falling of the cans made racket enough to call her attention. The case will be continued next week.

FLEE FOR THEIR LIVES

COLLAPSE OF FOUNDATION CAUSES LOSS OF AT LEAST $150,000 AT PORTLAND, ME.

PORTLAND, Me., June 10.—A caving in of the foundation of a pier under the plant of the Pocahontas Coal company on Long wharf yesterday resulted in a loss of at least $150,000.

The collapse of the foundation, far under water, came suddenly. One of the towers fell 70 feet with a great crash.

Alexander Burns of Portland and Albert Gallagher and John Carswell of New York were in the tower. Hearing an unusual sound and feeling the structure settling, they started on the run for the coal pockets about 200 ft. away. The trestle began to bend downward, and was at an angle of 45 degrees when they cleared it. Gallagher was thrown down, but managed to scramble up again in time to save his life.

Engineers Lawrence and McAllen were in the second tower. It did not fall, and all the men reached the ground in safety. Gallagher, who hurt his right wrist when he fell, was the only one injured. About 500 tons of soft coal fell into the hole caused by the collapse of the foundation.

The immediate cause of the trouble was the disappearance of about 139 feet of main land, it was stated by experts.

It is expected that repairs may keep the big plant out of commission for some months.

WHAT THEY OMIT

Both the republicans and progressives at Chicago agree without reservation in their mutual opposition to the democratic party, and their platforms are merely that opposition set to vague and safe terms. When they speak of protection for Americans at home and abroad, they hint that President Wilson neglected to ensure it; when they speak of preparedness, the tariff, regulation of transportation, international law, woman suffrage, etc., they merely wish to capitalize any petty disaffection that may exist in certain groups relative to democratic policies. Each group gives particular attention to the democratic party and while they use a microscope on every official act of President Wilson, they will carefully reject the good and feature everything that by adroit political juggling may be made to look unfavorable to him.

The progressives and republicans fall to mention when speaking of President Wilson and the democratic administration that every promise made has been kept so far as possible; that legislation has been in the interest of the many instead of the few; that the country is wonderfully prosperous in every corner; that the federal reserve act prevented complete disorganization and panic when the world was at war; that the people of every great nation in the world envy and that President Wilson holds a high place in the hearts of the American people. Furthermore they fail to mention that President Wilson is for the second largest navy in the world and an adequate army; that he has striven hard to make up for the lack of a merchant marine and that he is the author of the federal tariff commission bill.

Another point that the enemies of the present administration neglect to mention is that had we a president who would put in force the policies of Roosevelt or Gardner, we should in all probability now be at war. And, by the way, would the glory of America be any the greater if we had hundreds of thousands of our sturdy young men drowned in the sea from troop ships or buried in the bloody trenches of Europe? Is President Wilson's triumph over lawlessness any less glorious because it has been won without the sacrifice of American blood and American treasure in a war which all the earth regrets?

A LOWELL EXHIBIT

From time to time the suggestion has been made that the mills and great industries of Lowell should get together a permanent Lowell exhibit which would include samples of the main products produced in this city. That such an exhibit would have a great educational value is unquestionable, and if a proper use were made of it it might serve as a medium of the best type of advertising in which the city might engage. We are so used to our great achievements in manufacturing, etc., that they seem commonplace, but just as we regard the great automobile manufacturing cities of the west, the west regards the textile cities of the east.

The "Made-in-Lowell" exposition held at the Casino showed the great interest that can be aroused by a purely local display, even where the exhibits are manufactured, and a permanent exhibit of this nature would likewise prove educational and attractive to our people and to visitors. At the present time the visitor to Lowell can see the outside of the great corporations but owing to rigid restrictions he cannot get a look inside. It might astonish him to know that we produce not only cottons and woolsens of the better known kinds, but laces, voiles, plush, silk and the very finest fabrics, to say nothing of our hundreds of varieties of other products. If somewhere in Lowell there was set apart a "Made-in-Lowell" exposition of a permanent character, it might be the means of promoting business as well as giving all who see it a higher conception of the city and its interests.

This plan might be kept in mind in connection with the proposed erection of a new public hall. A Lowell exhibit would be entirely in keeping with the institution and this need not necessarily be so extensive that it would prove difficult to maintain. After the first cost the money needed for the display would be a negligible amount and there surely would be civic spirit enough in our larger industries to lead them to co-operate, entirely apart from the business value of the experiment. Libraries, civic halls, etc., in all parts of the country are constantly on the lookout for novel displays, and a "Made-in-Lowell" collection would be such as to give it ready admission anywhere.

PRICE OF MEAT

Reports from the meat barons relative to the future prospects of this country in regard to its meat supply are by no means encouraged. Meat, they say, is becoming more scarce and the public knows only too well that prices continue to rise.

The suggestion is made by the heads of the industry and supported by the press generally that other sections besides the west take up the neglected cattle industry so as to ensure to the country a sufficient meat supply. In the days before trust organization and the wonders of freight service, New England was a great cattle producing country, and it is said that like conditions would develop today with the proper backing. What is desired is not so much a cattle business on a large scale but interest manifested by the farmers over a considerable area so that there would be meat for all and at a price that would not prove prohibitive.

We are fortunate that the resources of this country have not been put to the test as they are being put to the test in Germany. There, the parks and public gardens have been put under crops and a dictator of food does out a niggardly quantity to the population. Here we show hundreds of thousands of acres to run to wild vegetation, while there are no great herds of cows and sheep to benefit by the grass that grows in our New England meadows. The man who looks over our country spaces with an eye to business is planning on town sites or a factory location, while the foreign economist would wonder at our neglect of great farming opportunities, without which no nation is safe or really prosperous.

New England farms might not afford to many the opportunity for immense or speedy wealth, but farm life would be far preferable to the life spent by our hundreds of thousands who crowd into factories and turn their backs on our swamps and unclaimed places. It would not be surprising to see a movement in the future for the development of the cattle industry in New England and other parts of the country.

A COSTLY LESSON

At present we have to hire our carrying done for us, although up to 1850 we were able to do so for our own cost. Now we are paying freights which are sometimes 1000 times higher than in normal times. Even before the war, we were paying between $200,000,000 and $300,000,000 annually to foreign ship owners—paying profit to foreign capital and to foreign labor instead of to our own.

At the outbreak of the war we had only six American-owned bottoms carrying goods back and forth on the Atlantic, while one German corporation had a fleet of 500 ships. When the war broke, foreign merchant ships were either appropriated for military purposes or interned—and American commerce was for a time paralyzed. We could neither buy nor sell abroad. When commerce resumed, half the profits were taken in freight charges by foreign ship owners.

AMERICAN PREPAREDNESS

How does our present fervor for preparedness impress other nations? Do they see in it a desire on our part for war or an abandonment of neutrality, or do they know that while America is for a large army and navy, for industrial, spiritual, national and every other kind of preparedness, it is averse to war and will consent to fight only when it cannot maintain its honor by any other means? We can only assume what the foreign attitude is, but it must be remembered that few who live under foreign governments can realize or understand American ideals. Here is a great, prosperous and free people suddenly deciding that the nation should be prepared—not for war but against war. And it is the people who so feel. In other nations the governments or the rulers pull the strings and the people are the puppets in the game of international diplomacy. What the end of the game inevitably is can be now seen in the various battle fields. America, on the other hand, has learned that its liberties and institutions are so best that they are worth defending. If we must defend them, and for the first time in decades a real desire for a national awakening is sweeping over the land. The preparations for the Lowell parade are typical of preparations through the length and breadth of the United States, and they represent the sober decision of the American people of every kind and class.

PROPERTY DETERIORATION

One of the very obvious business mistakes that is commonly made by owners of property is to let it deteriorate until adequate repair is out of the question.

the question and a good price is impossible. On almost all streets are examples of this kind of property and they not only offend the eye but cause general depreciation just as a fine building or well kept property sets a standard for all to emulate. In some of the finest sections of the city there are houses that when erected were show places of beauty, but today they are empty wrecks that grow more and more dilapidated with time. Why owners will permit this is difficult to see as they have a better chance to get rid of such property before it is thoroughly ruined than if they wait until it is sold at sacrifice. The usual end of such a course is an auction at which there are few bidders, and those who buy expect to lay out almost as much as would build a new house. To permit property to go without paint or periodic repair is bad for the owner and decidedly bad for the section adjoining.

THE TRAINED MIND

Self-conscious writers with more conceit than fairness are too prone to laugh at the expressed opinions of the youth, and it is not unusual to find the individual who laughs at the school commencement essay. While it may be that the assurance of the young man or young woman who says the last word on weighty topics at school commencements is somewhat disconcerting, the fact remains that the average essay at this time is well worth general consideration. Minds that have but recently been fed from the great sources of wisdom and that have not been tainted by the prejudices of the more mature oftentimes are more fitted to grapple with great questions than those of older persons. In this connection the effort of the schools to get their pupils to debate and write on great current topics is to be commended, though a broad point of view is necessary if trouble is to be avoided.

He's helping himself to everything.'"

Like a Wedding Shower

On one of the county roads down Plymouth way an auto and a buggy bumped. The wagon had a load of groceries and a large part of the cargo was rice. The bags containing this broke and rice was scattered over the tarred surface of the road in a small imitation of a snow drift, and suggested to some of the spectators that it looked as if there had been a wedding in the neighborhood and the friends of the principals had overtaken the bridal couple and showered them with rice into the real deluge stage. No one was hurt and the horse even escaped without any more than a shock to his nerves.

A Squirrel With Nerve

A certain storekeeper in Brockton desires to know the difference between a tame and a wild squirrel. His curiosity was aroused by the following little incident. A young squirrel was seen to descend from a large tree near Weston street and leisurely make its way toward the store. With hardly a bit of hesitation it walked into the store, jumped upon the counter, and, ignoring the proprietor who stood by, calmly seized a large nut and made a hurried dent and so brazen was the action of the little beast that witnesses could only stand and smile.

"If that is what one calls a tame squirrel then I would save money to have untamed grizzly bears around here," mused the storekeeper as he made preparations to hide the attractive squirrel food.

Printer Exonerated

"No hunting about," is the sign displayed conspicuously in the "smoke shop, confectionery and soft drink emporium," of "Doc" Evans, at Macon. It was signed by Dan Carr of the Times-Democrat. (Mr. Carr had dropped in casually to repeat the assertion that his new daily newspaper had a 1000 circulation.) Now the demand and a thetic editorial error grates upon him. Intending to supply Evans with the usual alibi employed in such instances, he called him aside. "Doc, your printer has made a mistake," said

FOR ST. JOHN'S DAY

ARRANGEMENTS FOR BIG OBSERVANCES BY LOCAL FRENCH-AMERICANS

A very interesting meeting of the committee in charge of the St. John's day celebration, which is to be held in this city on Sunday, June 25, was held last evening at the C.M.A.C. hall, with President Henri Achin, Jr., in the chair. Practically all members of the committee were present and the guests at the meeting were Rev. Dr. J. H. Racette, O.M.I., pastor of St. Joseph's; Rev. Leon Lamothe, O.M.I., pastor of Notre Dame de Lourdes, and Rev. J. B. Labossiere, pastor of St. Louis. The clergymen present spoke interestingly and presented several valuable suggestions to bring the event to a successful end. Rev. Leon Lamothe, O.M.I., chairman of the committee on invitations, informed the committee that he had received a favorable reply from the chairman of the upper house of parliament at Ottawa, Ont., Hon. J. Landry, who had accepted the invitation to be the principal speaker at the banquet to be held at Associate hall. But a few days ago he received another message from Mr. Landry to the effect that he was forced to cancel his engagement in Lowell for he will sail June 17 for England. Former Gov. Aram J. Pothier of Rhode Island will be one of the principal speakers at the dinner. Other notable speakers have also been invited, but the committee has not as yet heard from them.

REV. LEON LAMOTHE, O.M.I. Chairman of Committee

The celebration will consist of a solemn high mass in each of the French-American Catholic churches of the city in the morning, and a banquet at Associate hall in the evening. During the evening concert numbers will be given by the A. U. Cadet brass band. Final arrangements for the event will be made at the next meeting of the committee, which will be held Sunday afternoon, June 18, at 2 o'clock at the C.M.A.C. headquarters.

DEMAND FOR TENEMENTS

It is Felt by Real Estate Men All Over the City—New Buildings—Transactions for the Week

Negotiations are now under way for the lease of a large piece of land in the center of the city for the erection of a modern public garage. The land is owned by an estate and not for sale. It is now occupied by a couple of old wooden buildings and if the deal is put through the new building will mean a great improvement for that section of the city.

E. Gaston Campbell is the man between the two parties and he hopes the deal will be put through within a week or two. According to present plans if the land in question can be leased, the lessee will erect a two-story modern brick building and will equip it with a first class repair shop, while other sections of the building will be devoted to storing purposes. The building of a garage in Paige street may mean that the street, which is now being used for parking purposes will be abandoned. The cost of the building, if erected will be between $12,000 and $15,000.

The U. S. Bobbin and Shuttle Co. is erecting an intermediate floor in a large high studded store room of its plant at the corner of Rogers and Perry streets. The estimated cost of the alterations is $1700.

Tenements in Demand

"The scarcity of tenements is being felt all over the city and particularly in Pawtucketville," said a local property owner to a Sun reporter today. "There is a constant demand for flats in the Highlands, Belvidere and other parts of the city, especially within walking distance of the U. S. Cartridge shops. People are also asking for cottages with land, but we cannot help them in any way."

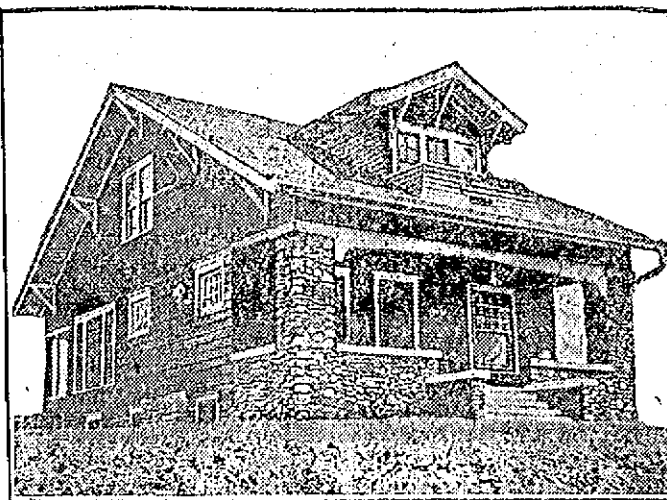

This particular property owner has a large number of cottages, two and three apartment houses in the Highlands and Pawtucketville and every one of them is occupied. He is now erecting two cottages in the Highlands and one in Pawtucketville and he informed the writer that although the houses will not be ready for occupancy for at least three or four weeks there are more than twenty demands for each flat or house. In some districts of the city the landlords have taken advantage of the great demand for decent flats to increase the rent, and even at that modern, up-to-date, vacant flats or cottages are very scarce.

Charles Denies Having Married Second Wife—Case for Non-Support Dropped—Other Cases

Charles Denis, charged with neglect of his wife, appeared before Judge Enright in police court this morning and entered a plea of guilty. Although he has been separated from her for a number of years she was willing to forgive him and announced to the court that she wanted to dismiss the complaint. Lawyer A. O. Hanel appeared for the woman and the man was represented by Lawyer Daniel J. Lianahue. It was stated by North Adams papers that the man had a wife and family in that city but Denis stoutly denies that he has been married to a second wife.

John Kosowicz and Veronica Szupiana were charged with lewd cohabitation. At the request of counsel the case was continued until next Tuesday.

John Sullivan and William J. Gillis, charged with drunkenness, were each ordered to pay a fine of $6.

The complaints against the ten operators of jitneys who allow their machines to stand in Paige street, near the corner of Bridge street, which was heard last week came up for decision this morning but Judge Enright announced that he would reserve decision in the matter until next Saturday morning.

Mrs. Jacob Nannis was arraigned this morning on a complaint charging her with assault and battery on Barney Seigel and although she entered a plea of not guilty the court found the woman guilty and ordered her to pay a fine of $5.

Seigel claimed that the woman slapped him on the face several times, he not having given her any reason for doing so. On the other hand the woman claimed that the complainant had slapped her first.

INQUEST FINDING

Judge Pickman Finds Taylor Blameless for Deveno Boy's Death

The inquest finding on the death of Victor Deveno, the boy who was struck down by an automobile owned and operated by Harry C. Taylor, and died of injuries sustained, was submitted by Judge John J. Pickman this morning at the office of the local police court. The Deveno boy, together with several companions, were playing baseball on the Princeton boulevard on May 19 last and in running after a thrown ball crossed directly in front of the automobile driven by Mr. Taylor. All but one of the witnesses testified at the inquest that he was running at a reasonable rate of speed and did everything possible to avert the accident.

The finding in conclusion says: "I find that the operating of the automobile from the right of the center of the street to the left of the center of the street, thereby avoiding running into the boys who were in the street on the south side of the street, near the lot, and thereafter operating the automobile still farther to the left of the center of the street, in the effort to avoid running into the Deveno boy, were reasonable efforts to prevent accidents under the conditions that existed on the street at that time."

"I find that in the afternoon of Wednesday, the tenth day of May last past, that Victor Deveno, a boy of the age of six years, was struck and thrown down by an automobile that was being operated by Harry C. Taylor upon Princeton street, a state highway in the city of Lowell, whereby said Victor Deveno sustained injuries that caused his death.

"I find that the death of said Victor Deveno was not caused by the criminal negligence of said Harry C. Taylor. Respectfully submitted,
John J. Pickman,
Senior Special Justice of the City of Lowell and Acting.

CREWS RESCUED

Two Schooners Went Ashore Off Newburyport—One a Total Loss

NEWBURYPORT, June 10.—After vainly trying to fight their way out to sea and safety, battling against mounlainous waves, heavy fog, a terrific downpour and a howling 50-mile gale, eight men were rescued from the rigging of two schooners when they were ashore off this harbor yesterday afternoon.

Three men were taken from the two-masted schooner Josie, which went aground off Plum Island and five from the Virginian, off Salisbury beach. Those taken from the Josie were Capt. Augustus Mitchell of Haverhill, Mass.; Edgar Berry of Machiasport and Samuel Nelson of Machias. Those from the Virginian were Capt. David Robinson, master; Frank Walker, Oscar King and his two sons, William and Ernest. The Virginian was from Clementsport, N. S., and was bound for Lynn with a cargo of cord wood.

The Josie had a cargo of 545,000 lathes and was bound from Machiasport to Simpson & Pratt, New York. This vessel went ashore early in the afternoon and the Virginian shortly after a o'clock.

The Josie was first sighted by Capt. Frank Stevens of the Knobs life-saving station. He gathered a volunteer crew from among the early summer hotel guests and finally managed to get a line to the little craft, from which a brother buoy was struck.

The work of stringing the buoy was made more difficult by bunches of lathes which were being washed ashore and which interfered with the casting of lines.

While these men were being cared for at the Plum Island station word was passed along that another vessel was being ground to pieces on lower Salisbury beach. A crowd of nearly 1000 persons gathered here and watched the struggle of the crew to save their craft.

After heating back and forth most of the afternoon, the men were finally driven to the rigging and the vessel went aground. While Capt. Charles

Willard of the Salisbury beach station and another volunteer crew were rushing their rescue apparatus to the nearest spot, Fred Andrews, one of the spectators, secured a brick, tied it to a clothes line, and after repeated attempts, managed to cast this line to the deck.

The men made this fast and waited till the breeches buoy arrived. When this was rigged they were soon brought ashore and taken to the Hotel Dennis, nearby. Here they were given stimulants and dry clothing. At a late hour the vessel was still pounded to pieces, though she was resting easy, and hope was expressed that she might be saved.

The Josie, however, is a total loss. The Virginian was owned by Captain Robinson and Herbert Hicks, of Clementsport, N. S.

IRISH TAG DAY PLANS

EVENT POSTPONED TILL NEXT SATURDAY BECAUSE OF UNFAVORABLE WEATHER

According to the prearranged plan announced at the meeting of the executive committee and the young ladies volunteers Friday evening in Hibernian hall, the Irish tag day that was to have been held today was postponed until Saturday, June 17, because of unfavorable weather.

Despite the rain about 100 young ladies started out this morning, and many had been very successful at the time The Sun bulletin announcing postponement was put out. The volunteers reported that a great deal of enthusiasm was manifested, and the contributions were very generous. Two volunteers went to the Northern depot at 6 a. m. when it was raining hard, and stood at their post until they heard the decision of the executive committee. As soon as possible all collectors were withdrawn, and the money collected in the early morning hours was turned into headquarters at Mr. O'Sullivan's office. Associate building, and credited to each collector.

Promptly at 8 a. m. fifty officers and men from the various companies of the O.M.T. Cadets marched two by two to headquarters in charge of Major Conroy, and the brave little lads were not the least crestfallen when they heard that the day was postponed. They agreed to be on hand next Saturday in true soldier fashion.

The executive committee asks that those who have purchased tags today save them until next Saturday, when it is hoped that the weather will be favorable. The plans made at the final meeting Friday night will be adhered to as far as possible, and the young ladies will be asked to take the places assigned to them next week. If there are any who cannot serve next Saturday, they are respectfully requested to provide substitutes, though it is hoped that the same able committee will be on hand next Saturday.

PRINCE ENDS LIFE

Details of Suicide of Turkish Heir Apparent Made Public

CONSTANTINOPLE, June. (Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—The details of the suicide of the Turkish heir apparent, Prince Yusuf Izzeddin, and the aversion of the Ottoman to speak of his household and the female members thereof has so far prevented the details of the suicide of the late Turkish heir apparent, Yusuf Izzeddin, from becoming known generally. The Associated Press correspondent has just learned from a dignitary of the prince's establishment. Prince Yusuf Izzeddin had for several years been suffering from an incurable nervous ailment, a malady which caused him to visit annually the baths of Europe, including those of Baden, a suburb of Vienna, where the mineral waters are said to have remedial effects in such cases. As the prince grew older the affliction advanced and when the European waters were generally considered a very sick man. Despite this he evinced the keenest interest in military affairs and undertook several tours of inspection to the Gallipoli terrain at the request of the sultan, his uncle. On one of these trips the Associated Press correspondent met at the headquarters of the prince's establishment. It was plain that the prince was under some strain. His conversation was disjointed, although his remarks were in themselves entirely rational. On the evening of which he died, Prince Yusuf Izzeddin retired at his usual hour, going to the apartment of one of his wives. Here he lay down on a divan. A few minutes later the woman heard him utter a slight groan, and, looking at the man, saw him bleeding. Upon inquiry, the prince revealed that the bleeding was due to a slight ailment, and then asked the woman to get him a fresh shirt. When she returned with this she found that the prince had locked the door behind her. She then rushed to find one of the attendants. The two returned to the door, and the attendant, who had his efforts to unlock the door, could not enter the room. No answer came, however.

The woman and the attendant then called upon the marshal of the household, who promptly decided to force the door. This proved difficult, as the door was locked from within. In the end it had to be broken down piecemeal. Meanwhile the palace physician had been roused and his examination disclosed that the arteries in the elbow pit had been severed with a sharp knife. This weapon was found between the upholstery of the divan and the wall.

INTERCEDES FOR O'CONNOR

Mayor Asks Lansing to Pledge Detention of Brother of Schoolhouse Commissioner in Ireland
BOSTON, June 10.—In confirmation of a personal request he made of Secretary of State Lansing while in Washington last Tuesday, Mayor Curley yesterday wrote him asking the state department to investigate the case of Bartholomew O'Connor, who is said to be confined to Kilmainham jail, Dublin, on the charge of conspiracy against the English crown in connection with the recent Sinn Fein uprising in Ireland. The mayor wrote: "Mr. O'Connor, the accused, is a brother of Thomas D. O'Connor, schoolhouse commissioner of the city of Boston, and a leading contractor and a man of very high standing in this community. It appears that for some time prior to the recent Irish uprising, Bartholomew O'Connor was at the home of his mother, in Kerry county, and attending her during a period of severe illness, and at no time during the origin of the revolt was in Dublin or elsewhere. "Mr. O'Connor returned to his business in Dublin some eight days after the uprising had started and was arrested for alleged participation in the Sinn Fein movement. "It further appears that Bartholomew O'Connor was for about two years a resident of the United States and had taken first papers from the office of the United States circuit court for naturalization. Access to O'Connor is denied by the British military authorities at Kilmainham jail. No details have been given by British officials relative to the charges and specifications made against the man."

CLASH ON THE BORDER

Shots Exchanged Between U. S. Troops and Bandits—Americans Fleeing From Mexico

BROWNSVILLE, Tex., June 10.—Shots were exchanged between American soldiers at Progreso, Tex., and Mexican bandits across the Rio Grande opposite that place last night, according to reports here.

Food riots were reported last night in Matamoros, opposite here. Military authorities in the Mexican town announced the disturbance had been quelled.

AMERICANS FLEEING FROM NORTHERN MEXICO

WASHINGTON, June 10.—Administration officials were uneasy today over continued reports of anti-American demonstrations in northern Mexico. Americans in Mexico, fearing serious riots are proceeding to the border in greater numbers and those seeking to return to Mexico are being advised against such action.

Most demonstrations have gone no further than mass meetings and speeches by agitators who resent the presence of American troops on Mexican soil. Carranza troops have sought usually to disperse such gatherings. Officials fear Mexican public opinion may flare into open rioting, directed against American citizens, although no fear is felt for the safety of General Pershing's forces.

U. S. SCOUT PATROLS THREATENED WITH ATTACK

COLUMBUS, N. M., June 10.—American scout patrols in Mexico have been threatened with attack by Carranza troops, according to authoritative information received here today. A column of Carranza cavalry is said to have dashed forward upon an American detachment recently south of Nampulpa, rifles in hand. The Americans are said to have averted a clash by standing their ground. According to the report the Mexicans withdrew.

NOTORIOUS BANDIT LEADER AND COMPANIONS CAPTURED

CHIHUAHUA CITY, Mex., June 10.—General Luis Herrera reported today from Parral the capture of Victor Sandoval, a notorious bandit leader in the Chihuahua valley, together with four companions, one of whom had been shot. Sandoval was shot immediately by his captors and announcement was made that his brother Luis now confined in Parral, is to be executed "for the public good."

A number of citizens today publicly demanded that Luis Sanchez Mena, charged with attempting to enlist Mexicans to co-operate with the Americans in the event of intervention, be handed over for "summary justice." Military authorities, however, denied the plea, holding Mena for court martial that he may have an opportunity to vindicate himself.

TEXAS MILITIA CAVALRY ENTHRAINED FOR LAREDO

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., June 10.—A squadron of Texas militia cavalry entrained for Laredo today to strengthen the troops on patrol duty in the Laredo district where the activities of the bandit, De la Rosa, south of Laredo have caused alarm.

IT LOOKS LIKE O'LEARY

Lively Contest for Democratic National Committeeman Being Waged

While the republicans and progressives in national conventions assembled are worrying over the selection of a candidate to head the ticket, the democrats are united and the only contest to be fought at the national convention will be of a minor nature.

In this state a lively contest for member of the democratic national committee is on, and a straw vote taken recently resulted in 21 votes for Michael A. Leary, chairman of the democratic state committee and 14 for Dr. John W. Coughlin, of Fall River, the present incumbent. There was one doubtful vote, that of former Governor Walsh, but it has since been announced that he will not be at the convention.

Dr. Coughlin was elected four years ago at Baltimore, by one vote, after a lively contest between the Boston machine and the rest of the state. Dr. Coughlin's election being brought about largely through the efforts of Mr. Humphrey O'Sullivan, of this city.

There has been some dissatisfaction over Dr. Coughlin's distribution of patronage in different parts of the state as well as in Boston, and hence according to the democratic leaders he does not possess the ante-convention strength that he did four years ago.

The Boston machine is taking an active part in the contest, chiefly in the body of Marian Lambert was found, he turned over to attorneys for the state.

MASS. DEFECTION ON WEEKS IS CONDEMNED

May Cause Split in Party in This State—Lodge Severely Censured for Jump to Roosevelt After Making a Strong Nominating Speech—Delegates Bedraggled—Borah's Speech to the Progressives

Special to The Sun

CHICAGO, Ill., June 10.—Senator Weeks was smiling and calm this morning when I saw him surrounded by a great crowd of delegates and staunch friends. Both Weeks and his managers decline to comment on the defection in the Massachusetts delegation. Weeks urges party harmony and has released all pledged delegates and will have his name formally withdrawn if he can hold his men in line for such action. His western supporters want to treat the Weeks deserters in Missouri fashion, but Weeks urges the party before the man, and is proving his belief of presidential size in his manner of ignoring the personal side of the question. It is predicted here in the hotels and corridors that the action of the Massachusetts delegation will split the republican party up the back at the fall election despite Weeks' stand for harmony.

THE BEDRAGGLED DELEGATES

If you ever say rain to a delegate after this, he will shoot you on the spot. His hat is a mere sodden mass, his shoes squeak and ooze with each step, his only convention suit is mud splashed, and if he ever had an umbrella it undoubtedly turned inside out in the heavy gale that has swept Chicago from stem to stern since the opening day of the convention.

And the women? Why they are just like wet hens, with their pretty plumage of gay colors all mud bespattered and mud bespattered. But they have been game and trudged through the mire and flooded streets just as if such weather was quite the proper thing.

The great Coliseum stands with its gray battlements dark against the heavy clouds, with flags and bunting plastering its sides, so heavy are they with rain. But the inside of that great building knows no gloom. The band is perched far up in a gay little balcony all its own and plays trots and jigs and inspiring marches, with now and then a drifting into old songs and

CHANGE OF TIME

"What time is it in your state?" asks your neighbor of the quill, and you make a quick calculation to see if you have got caught napping over that hour that must be deducted between New England and Chicago time—or whether there is still time to make good with your editor. There has been some pretty close calls for the men who forgot that Chicago is the place where eastern time changes to middle and that our first day here had 25 instead of 24 hours.

The hail is so big that you feel as though you were six miles from anywhere, but thanks to that new fangled sounding board over the head of the chairman his voice reached the farthest corners. That sounding board looks very much like a glorified lemon

NEGRO MELODIES THAT BRING OUT A ROUND OF APPLAUSE FROM FLOOR AND GALLERIES

The press section is a mighty interesting spot these days, with well known writers as thick as honey bees round a rose. William J. Bryan sits there each day, pencil in hand, just like the rest of us; Sam Blythe is a near neighbor, "sob-sisters" are grinding out syndicate work by the yard, society writers are keeping an eye on the gallery back of the chairman, the press gallery at the capital at Washington is almost depleted, nearly all the men having been assigned to do convention work both here and at St. Louis; row after row of white capped messenger boys stand ready to rush the press messages down a steep flight of stairs where hundreds of operators send it over the wires to all parts of the country.

LODGE CRITICIZED

Much unfavorable comment was heard on all sides on the action of Senator Lodge in voting on the second ballot for Roosevelt after making the Weeks' nominating speech. The sentiment seems to be that Lodge should either have declined to make the speech on account of his Roosevelt preference or stood by the man he put in line for nomination.

The Massachusetts vote attracted much interest and had many exciting incidents. The irony of fate made Butler Ames first alternate and when he was called upon to vote he voted for McCall. This was allowed by the chairman.

BORAH'S SPEECH UNAUTHORIZED

Senator Crane tells me that Borah's visit and speech before the progressives' convention yesterday noon was made on his own initiative and he was not sent as a representative or emissary of the ten-conferences.

Senator Crane, however, did not express any disapproval of Borah's course in the matter.

COMPENSATION ACT

The question of workmen's compensation has reached a very important stage in the textile industry of Massachusetts, according to the remarks of mill men made before the committee on Judiciary at the hearings on Governor McCall's special message last week.

The textile manufacturers from Lowell, New Bedford, Fall River and Lawrence maintain that Governor McCall's plan for a merit rating based on the efforts of the mill owners to reduce the risk is the only correct one. They claim that the idea of workmen's compensation is not merely the payment of money to injured workmen, but also contemplates the reduction in the number of industrial accidents. They go further and assert that if the non-union enterprise keeps the industries of the state going, further investments in safeguarding the health of the employees they, and not the insurance companies, should be entitled to the benefits of the reduced accident risk.

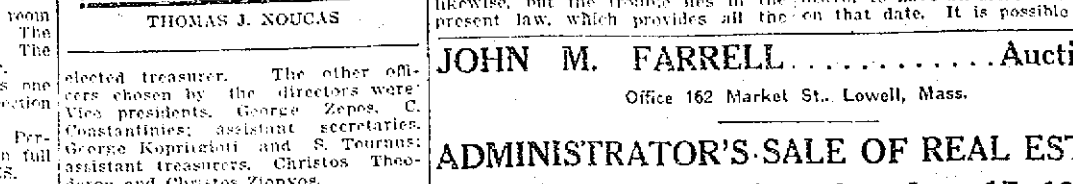

That is Governor McCall's idea likewise, but the trouble lies in the present law, which provides all the CLEARFIELD, Pa., June 10.—A revolver at Cashier Anthony Hall, shot and seriously wounded Harry Hoover, the paying teller in the presence of C. S. Russell, the president and three depositors. The man then ran from the bank but was finally captured.

No effort to rob the bank was made, it was officially stated. The prisoner refused to give any motive for the shooting, declaring: "I do not know why I did it."

ADMINISTRATOR'S SALE OF REAL ESTATE AT PUBLIC AUCTION

ON THE PREMISES SITUATED AT NOS. 39-41 JEWETT STREET, CENTRALVILLE

ON NEXT SATURDAY, JUNE 17, 1916 AT 3 O'CLOCK, P. M.

By virtue of a license issued by the Probate Court, the administrator of the estate of Peter L. Denault, late of Lowell, has instructed the auctioneer to sell at absolute auction sale to whomsoever will bid the most this attractive home and investment property, located within 15 minutes' walk of Merrimack Square.

The property comprises a two-story house of nine rooms with bath, pantry and furnace heat at No. 43 Jewett street, and a two-story two-tenement house of five rooms, separate entrances to each, bathroom and furnace in lower tenement at Nos. 39-41 Jewett street.

The lot has an area of about 553 square feet of land, more or less, with a frontage of about 50 feet on Jewett street.

This sale should attract any person contemplating buying real estate this spring, when you take into consideration a full two-story house, now occupied as a home, that one could if desired convert into a two-apartment property at a low cost, its present plan making it an easy problem. There are four large rooms besides halls and pantry on the first floor, and five good sized chambers and storeroom on the second floor; building is heavily timbered, has a high-posted cellar, cemented in part, and on the same lot a two-story, two-tenement house of five rooms each, that will practically pay the carrying charges of the entire property.

The buildings are in A-1 condition, and the location, within easy walking distance to the largest of Lowell's manufacturing plants, also to the very centre of the city, will assure one of a steady and continuous occupancy.

If you are looking for a home, and wish a chance to purchase at the same time, on the same lot, and in no way connected with your home, an investment that will make your rent cost you almost nothing, and pay you interest on your money, then be on hand next Saturday at this sale.

Terms—$300 must be paid to the auctioneer just as soon as the property is struck off. Other terms at sale.

HUGHES AND FAIRBANKS ARE NOMINATED BY REPUBLICANS

ROOSEVELT AND JOHNSON NAMED BY PROGRESSIVES

JUSTICE HUGHES WON ON THE THIRD BALLOT

COLISEUM, Chicago, June 10.—Charles Evans Hughes of New York, was nominated for president by the republican national convention on the third ballot today. His vote was practically unanimous. He received 949½; Col. Theodore Roosevelt received 18½; Du Pont 5; Weeks 3; Lodge 7 and La Follette 3. One was absent. Before the roll call had covered half the states Hughes had the necessary 491. New Jersey's vote touched the mark. Later Hughes' nomination was made unanimous.

Some of the leaders talked about recessing until 3 o'clock before taking up vice presidential nominations.

Frank H. Hitchcock was quoted by men who talked with him as saying Hughes men wanted Burton for second place.

Senator Lodge spoke in warmest terms of Justice Hughes as "a thorough American, distinguished and upright."

Senator Lodge said:

Mr. Chairman, and fellow delegates:

"This great convention has chosen as its candidate a strong, able, distinguished, upright man and a thorough American. He should have the cordial support not only of every republican from one end of the country to the other but of every man who honestly believes that another four years of the present administration would be a calamity to the people of the United States, because it is disintegrating public sentiment, lowering the American spirit and failing to stand for the conscience and the soul of the American people."

"It is an honor and a pleasure to me to second the motion of Mr. Moore of Pennsylvania, that the nomination of Mr. Justice Hughes be made unanimous."

It was announced in the Pennsylvania delegation, however, that John Wanamaker would nominate Fairbanks and that the delegation would support him solidly.

Chairman Harding announced the nomination of Hughes and Alex. P. Moore of Pittsburgh seconded by Senator Lodge who voted for Roosevelt moved to make it unanimous. The nomination was made unanimous with a roaring chorus of "Ayes."

Plans for the recess before vice presidential nominations was abandoned. There were calls of "Burton" and "Fairbanks" when Chairman Harding ordered a roll call.

Fairbanks Nominated

Colorado yielded to Pennsylvania and John Wanamaker nominated Fairbanks.

The official vote for vice president on the first and only ballot was:

Fairbanks 863.
Burkett 105.
Johnson 1.
Berah 8.
Webster 2.
Burton 1.
Not voting 3.
Absent 1.
Total 987.

The nomination was made unanimous.

The delegates considered the nomination of Fairbanks so certain that after giving their ballots to the heads of delegations, they began piling out of the hall and almost drowned out the voting with the noise.

The official count gave: Fairbanks, 863; Burkett, 105; and the others scattered. On motion of Representative

Cole of Ohio the Fairbanks nomination then was made unanimous. S. A. Perkins of Washington moved that Chairman Harding be appointed chairman of the committee to notify Justice Hughes and that Senator Borah be chairman of the committee to notify Mr. Fairbanks. It was carried. A resolution of thanks to the officers of the convention, the city of Chicago and other routine motions were quickly adopted.

Chairman Harding announced that he had sent a telegram of notification to Justice Hughes and that the justice had sent a telegram of acceptance which was on its way. The following message of notification and congratulation from Warren G. Harding, permanent chairman, was sent to Justice Hughes at Washington:

"With deliberation and enthusiasm, under circumstances which could not have been more complimentary and with unanimity never excelled in past conventions, you have been nominated by the republicans of the nation as our candidate for president of the United States. Your eminent fitness for this high office, your sterling integrity and unswerving private character are understood and appreciated by your countrymen. Voicing the sentiments of the convention over which I have presided by the courtesy of my fellow delegates, I congratulate you and the country upon the outcome of this convention."

"Warren G. Harding."

National Chairman Hillis then called an organization meeting of the new national committee for this afternoon. Continued to page eight

T. R. UNANIMOUS CHOICE OF THE PROGRESSIVES

AUDITORIUM, Chicago, June 10, 12.33 p. m.—At the very moment when it was flashed to the progressive convention that Hughes had been nominated at the Coliseum as the standard bearer of the republican party, Chairman Robins of the progressive convention was announcing that Col. Roosevelt had been unanimously nominated as the progressive's leader. The convention went wild and there was no way to inform the delegates what had transpired at the Coliseum. For several minutes Chairman Robins vainly rapped for order.

Finally James R. Garfield of Ohio without telling the delegates that Hughes had been named at the Coliseum, asked for a recess to 3 p. m. after singing one verse of "America."

"No, no," yelled the delegates, but Chairman Robins said the time asked for was necessary and finally the delegates yielded and began to file out at 12.42 to return again at 3 p. m.

Before this action was taken Mr. Robins had mentioned the necessity of nominating a vice president.

"Johnson is the man" was the shout that came from the floor showing that the desire of the party was almost unanimously for their 1912 standard bearer—Col. Roosevelt and Gov. Johnson of California.

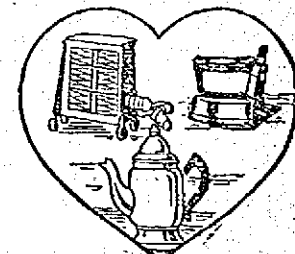

Gov. Johnson declared after the recess that he and other leaders would communicate with Col. Roosevelt during the recess and insist upon a definite statement immediately as to whether he would accept.

T. R. REFUSES TO TALK
OYSTER BAY, N. Y., June 10.—

When informed that the republicans had nominated Justice Hughes and that the progressives had nominated him, Col. Theodore Roosevelt refused to make any comment. He remained secluded in his home at Sagamore Hill.

Congressman John Jacob Rogers arrived at city hall this morning and threw himself into the preparedness parade work. He met his chief of staff, Thomas J. O'Donnell, at parade headquarters and went over arrangements and plans with him. The congressman plans that the parade is going to be a greater affair than he had anticipated and said the roster was quite a formidable one. He has kept in touch as closely as possible with parade arrangements here and believes that inasmuch as the line of march will not exceed one mile and a half a great many will turn out that might hesitate if the line were longer. Principal Irish of the high school has made arrangements to call a mass meeting of the boys on Monday morning and Congressman Rogers will address them on the meaning of the Preparedness parade and urge them to participate in it. The congressman thinks it a pity that the high school girls are not going to parade, for he had heard of the splendid showing the girls' battalion made in the streets on high school field day.

All ladies desirous of participating in the parade and of being identified with the women's industrial division are requested by Mrs. H. D. Pickering to assemble at the armory in Westford street, Monday evening at 7.30, when a drill will be held.

The following units, not appearing in the roster already published and from which official notices were not received at headquarters until this morning, will participate. Business men's battalion, High School regiment, Teamsters and Helpers' union, Broadway Social club and Mathew Temperance Institute. A notice sent to members of the Mathews by Patrick J. Kane, marshal, contains the following:

At the regular meeting of the Mathew Temperance Institute held Tuesday evening, it was unanimously voted that we participate in the Preparedness parade on the evening of June 11. The committee in charge is desirous of turning out in large numbers on that occasion and would urge you as a member by your presence to declare publicly for "preparedness." Aside from the patriotic aspect of the demonstration the Mathews are bound to make a good showing as an organization. Hence our urging you to be with us on that evening. A special meeting of the society will be held on next Sunday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock and you are requested to be present and hear the final arrangements.

The Mathews will wear straw hats and white gloves. They will also wear the Mathew badge and it was announced that they would keep open house after the parade.

Representatives of stores and other establishments called at city hall this forenoon for further information concerning the parade. It was stated that the A. G. Pollard Co. would have 120 in line and a representative from the Saco-Lowell shops said they would have at least 1500 men in line and that they had engaged the National band.

Charles J. Morse, commissioner of streets and highways, said that the street and sewer men would turn out and Commissioner Newell F.

Putnam said the water department men are enthusiastic over the parade. Commissioner James E. Donnelly expects that the men of the lands and buildings department will march, but he had no definite information to that effect.

It was stated that the Lowell Gas company had engaged the 8th regiment drum corps and it is expected that there will be several bands from out of town.

General Order No. 4

The chief marshal has issued further orders for the parade, as follows:

Office of the chief marshal, citizens Preparedness parade, City Hall, June 10.

General orders No. 4.

1—The headquarters of the chief marshal on the evening of the parade will be at the court house, Gorham street, Tel. 8767.

2—At 7.45 o'clock the order to march will be given. Divisions must have their formations at that hour.

3—The parade will march over the following route: Davis square, down Gorham street to Central street to Merrimack street, review at City Hall, to Cabot street, the points of dismissal.

4—The names of the streets on which the various organizations will form will be announced in papers on Tuesday, June 13.

5—Maj. Frank Haggerty has been appointed a division marshal.

By order of the chief marshal.

THOMAS J. O'DONNELL, Chief of Staff.

Elks Very Enthusiastic

The Lowell Elks held a meeting last evening and voted unanimously to turn out in the Preparedness parade. The Elks delegation will be headed by Commissioner James E. Donnelly and the Haverhill Military band. Present and past officers will wear silk hats and frock coats and each member will carry a flag. The local lodge of Elks has a membership of 500, and a large delegation is expected to march. Members are requested to report at the Elks headquarters in Middle street promptly at 7 o'clock next Wednesday evening. Following the parade, the Elks will hold flag day exercises in their rooms, to which the public is cordially invited. The committee in charge of the meeting last evening included William Scott, exalted ruler; E. Y. Brown, esteemed leading knight; Joseph Haggerty, esteemed loyal knight; and C. Fred Gilmore, esteemed lecturing knight.

Business Men's Battalion

Companies A and B of the Business Men's battalion drilled last night in the high school annex in Paige street in preparation for the parade next Wednesday evening. Military officers put the men through all sorts of company marching revolutions. On next Tuesday evening Companies C and D will drill at the annex. It is understood that the battalion will assemble for the parade on Wednesday night at the armory.

Knights of Pythias

At a meeting of Chevalier Middlesex lodge, K. of P., held last night, it was voted to turn out for the Preparedness parade next Wednesday night and to march in the Knights of Pythias division.

Navy, Army and Marine

The following appeal to men who have been honorably discharged from the navy, army and marine to participate in the Preparedness parade is explanatory:

In the spirit of co-operation H. C. Tucker, chief yeoman, U. S. navy, in charge of the navy recruiting station, Merrimack street, this city, and Arthur Brown, care Riker, Jaynes drug store, Merrimack street, wish to have the men who have been honorably discharged from the navy, army and marine corps, who have the interest of our city at heart, communicate with either of them with the view of having the army and navy well represented in the Preparedness parade. Why not get together and show the citizens of Lowell that the city in the past has always furnished its share of men for the protection of our country both in times of peace as well as war?

Parade Notes

Secretary John H. Murphy of the board of trade has arranged with Agent Wallace G. Parkin of the Boston & Maine to discontinue freight shifting across Merrimack street on the night of the parade during the hours required for the parade.

The marchers will march abreast with the lines five feet apart. The leader will be on the right of each line. Watch your leaders!

Loosh Campfire girls of No. Chelmsford, 20 strong, have asked for a place in the parade and they are the first campfire girls to be heard from.

Dr. Joe W. Meigs did not write the very patriotic notice sent to the members of the York club urging them to join in the parade. A morning paper credited him with it. "Red blood in his veins," are words appearing in the call in question, and Dr. Meigs says those words alone are enough to prove that the call was not written by a doctor, for a doctor would know that the red blood is in the arteries and not in the veins.

Ninety-Five New Cases This Week — Leaks in Sand Filter Stopped — City Hall News

Measles are epidemic in Lowell. Ninety-five cases were reported this week and there were four deaths from measles. The number of cases reported last week was 65 as compared with 73 for the week previous. Measles gained a great foothold in Lowell several weeks ago but the number of cases reported this week exceeded all previous weeks.

The total number of deaths from various diseases during the week was 33 as against 36 last week and 36 the week previous. The death rate for the week was 18.59 as against 12.72 last week and 11.61 the week previous.

The number of deaths under five years of age was 14. There were seven deaths from infectious diseases, three from acute lung diseases, one from scarlet fever, four from measles and one from tuberculosis. The number of infectious diseases reported was 25 as follows: Diphtheria 2, scarlet fever 3, measles 15, tuberculosis 4.

The Filter Plant

Mr. Frank Gow of the Gow Construction company came to Lowell during the week to supervise the repairs to the sand filters at the high school filtration plant that developed a leakage of over 500,000 gallons a day. Only one of the six sand filters has as yet been tested, and Commissioner Putnam stated this morning that the leak in this filter has been reduced to a leakage less than that of the other filters. It is stated in the contract that in the settling basins, sand filters and filtered water reservoir a loss of one-quarter of an inch in 24 hours will be permitted. The sand filter repaired and tested is known as sand filter number five. The leak in this filter was in the collecting pipes which have been replaced and pointed so that the leakage now, according to Mr. Putnam, is less than one-quarter of an inch in 24 hours.

The Sun has gone into the matter of the contractor's responsibility in the matter on several occasions, but so many questions have been asked that it seems as if another explanation is necessary. There still nearly $5000 due the contractor and that company will not be paid until the plant has been accepted by the city. Mayor O'Donnell in a letter to Mr. Gow dated May 23 so informed him and called his attention to article 27 of the contract which is as follows:

"The contractor shall keep the work in good repair for the term of six months after the date of the final estimate (Dec. 1, 1915) and shall correct and repair promptly during that time all breaks and failures due to faulty material or workmanship, and all settlement and irregularities of surface."

Taxes for 1914

The time for the payment of real estate taxes for 1914 closed at 12.30 p. m., today. The real estate on which taxes for 1914 have not been paid will be advertised in the daily papers beginning on Monday next.

McGraw may try to make third baseman out of outfielder Burns

NEW YORK, June 10.—Manager Johnny McGraw of the New York Giants says he is going to try and make a third baseman out of George Burns. While Mac considers Burns a great outfielder he also believes he will develop into a wonderful third sacker with the proper coaching and experience. He also wishes it known that Bill McKechnie has played good ball at third and his hitting has been heavy and there is no danger of him being removed at present, but Mac states he has an eye on the future. He says that if the opportunity pops up he will give Burns a chance to show his ability on bag No. 3 this season. Picture shows Burns waiting to nail a Texas leaguer.

SPEAKER STILL ON TOP

Ty Cobb Tie With Jackson for Second Place—Daubert Heads National League—The Averages

CHICAGO, June 10.—Tris Speaker New York, .300; Milan, Washington, leads the American league batters and Ty Cobb has climbed into a tie with Joe Jackson for second place, according to averages made public here today and including records of games played Wednesday. The old trio of southerners, who have been fighting for leading honors for years, are bunched at the top again, for Speaker is leading with .360 and Jackson and Cobb are neck and neck at .327. Speaker also leads in runs scored with 35 and in total bases with 38. Cobb is second in a quartet leading in base-stealing, he, Schalk, Chicago; Walsh, Philadelphia; and Sieler, St. Louis, having 12 each. Grane, Cleveland, leads in the home runs with four. Detroit leads in team batting with .255. The .300 hitters of the American league, counting only those who have played half or more of their club's games, are:

Speaker, Cleveland, .369; Jackson, Chicago, .327; Cobb, Detroit, .327; Burns, Detroit, .321; Strunk, Philadelphia, .313; E. Johnson, St. Louis, .311; Hellman, Detroit, .311; Nunamaker,

DIAMOND DAZZLES

Washington won its first game since May 27 yesterday on an overthrow by Pitcher Mitchell of the Cleveland team. Since that date the former leaders lost seven and tied two games. Walter Johnson was the winning pitcher.

But three games were played in the big league yesterday and all were played in the American organization. Rain and cold weather was experienced nearly everywhere.

Umpire Hildebrand failed to call a perfect strike on Burns of the Sox yesterday. It is said, which should have been the third strike. Then Burns tripped and scored three runs which beat the Red Sox.

The Braves have signed Fred Bailey, the Washington and Lee university star. Bailey was considered the best college ball player in the south this season and at least 12 major league clubs were after him. He is a slinger and plays first base or the outfield. In 1915 he interrupted the ball at a .300 clip against the best college pitchers in the east and south.

Hal Chase continues his doing his right thing at the right time, that marks him as a winning player. He is covering his position in the outfield as if he had never played anywhere else in his life.

Connie Mack has signed Walter Whitaker, one of the most sought after college pitchers in the country. Whitaker has been hurling remarkable ball for the Tufts college nine, which lays claim to the eastern title. When he is not flinging, Whitaker can take his turn in the outfield. Floyd Krepps, the Tufts southpaw, is also said to be tied up with Mack.

Percy Haughton has contributed the baseball idea of making it three balls instead of four for a pass to first. Ty Cobb thinks this would mean the advent of the 500 hitters. Tris Speaker says that while this scheme would likely make more runs and considerably handicap the pitcher, the 500 hitter is like the nine-second 100-yard sprinter. "He may be coming, but he is a long way off." It is not likely that the Haughton idea will be realized much before the appearance of the nine-second man.

Report has it that Slim Sallee, the St. Louis southpaw, will soon become a member of the Giants. This story is revived at least twice every season, but this time it appears to have some foundation. The Britons have been experiencing a bad financial season in St. Louis, and are said to be willing to let Slim go to the highest bidder. They know that McGraw has been anxious to get the sheriff, and just now would not doubt make a big offer for him. It is also reported that the St. Louis club is on the market.

Clarence Mitchell, who subdued the Giants in the first game of the Red series, is one of the "buds" of the season, according to Charley Herzog. Not only is he a good pitcher, but he is a regular ball player and a terrific hitter.

Eddie Grant, former utility infielder of the Giants, who now is engaged as a scout by McGraw, will be seen in action each Sunday for the remainder of the season at the Denison field. Eddie signed with the Denison Grays last Saturday. He will replace "Moose" McCormick. Grant will play third base for the Denisons this Sunday against the Morrilstown A.A.

Every major league club having waived on him, Doc Crandall was yesterday released by the St. Louis Americans to the Oakland club of the Pacific Coast league. Just what Otey will do with Oakland is a problem. A tendency to take on fresh grudge has made Crandall somewhat unpopular with Wilbert Robinson and he's hardly in condition to take his turn in the box. Crandall is a good hitter, and might be used in the outfield or as a pinch swatter. Crandall joined the Giants in 1908 from the Wilks of Iowa and made good both as a hurler and a pinch hitter. A year ago last winter he hopped to the St. Louis Federals, and when that club was amalgamated with the Browns, Doc was retained. Crandall was well-liked in New York.

NEBES AGAIN A WINNER
Albert Nebes of this city last night broke the tape in the 10-m. race with Willie Blackburn of Chicago, finishing with a lead of three-quarters of a lap. His time was 26 minutes and 30 seconds. The race was one of the closest and most exciting ever seen in this city. For the first six miles both sides were in a tight race, but Nebes gradually gained on the Chicago boy until at the end of the race he led by three-quarters of a lap.

ACADEMY RECORDS BROKEN
WEST POINT, N. Y., June 10.—Two military academy records were broken today at the annual outdoor athletic meet of the Cadet Corps, which was held on the Plains, despite a drizzling rain and a windy sky. Cadet Clarence S. Maulsby of Washington state, established a new academic record in the running high jump, clearing the bar at 5 feet 10.03 inches. Cadet William H. Britton of Iowa smashed the running broad jump record with 22 feet 5.5 inches. Both records formerly were held by P. A. Hodgson, '15. The meet was won by the class of 1917. The new record holders are members of the graduating class.

EASTERN LEAGUE COMMENT
For the second day in succession all games in the Eastern league were postponed yesterday, which means additional double-headers later in the season. This week has been even more disastrous to club managers than the first week the New England league teams returned to their home grounds after the trip through the Connecticut cities when it rained steadily for several days and caused continual postponements. Lowell played but one game in the first five days of the week, all others being called off on account of the weather. The same was true of other clubs. When the league officials scheduled the prospects are that the fans in both of these cities will kick the season. Each team is decidedly weak and in order to keep in line with the policy of the other managers of the league will have to show more life or else the league as well as the men be-

THE EMERY BALL FINES MUST BE PAID

Big Ed. Sweeney Reveals Story About Russ Ford

The history of the emery ball, as told by Ed Sweeney, Toledo catcher, and one of the arch conspirators in the mystifying slants of the phenomenal slout, forms one of the greatest stories ever heard in connection with the game.

There's romance behind the emery ball, discovered by Russ Ford, one of baseball's most brilliant pitchers. It presents a tale of mystery and years of secrecy.

Ed Sweeney, who caught this slout no batter can hit, says this is the first time the inside story has ever been published.

It began back early in 1907 at Atlanta, where Ford and Sweeney were the crack battery for this Southern league team. One day while Sweeney was catching Ford in a warm-up slout before a game, Russ made a wild peg and the ball bounded into a concrete pillar.

Broke Peculiarly
"I don't know anything about it," explains Sweeney, "but after that I noticed the ball breaking in a peculiar way. I remarked about it to Ford, but he didn't appear interested. I never saw it again that season. It was purchased that summer by the Yankees. When Farrell came to me one day and asked who was the best pitcher in the Southern league, I told him Ford. And Russ was drafted."

"The next spring Ford and I went south together to join the Yankees. On the train Russ told me he had a ball no catcher in the world could really. I laughed at him. But he persisted and told me he would explain when we reached the training camp."

"Once there he took me into his confidence and explained the emery ball. He said he had experimented with it the entire previous season, but had not mentioned it. He was telling me because he wanted me to catch him, and he knew I couldn't get away with it unless I knew what was coming."

"Russ showed me a little leather ring that he slipped over a finger on his left hand. Like most players' gloves his mitt had a big hole in it. All he had to do to scratch the ball with the emery, which was pasted on the leather. The concrete had given Ford the tip."

"The bigger the scratch the greater the freak jumps the ball would take. But foxes Russ merely scraped a part of the ball. And he never used the shot except in a pinch. He would fake a splitter and nobody ever got wise. When he pitched he always requested that I catch him."

"When Russ threw the ball, with runners on or in pinches, no batter in the world could hit it. Once in a while somebody did, but it was by accident. Ford could break the ball in two ways, in and out and up. I've seen batter after batter miss the ball a foot."

"When Gardner reported to Toledo in 1912 he gave the secret to C. Falkenberg. Falk in Toledo will remember what a wonderful year Cy had in the association. And the following season in the American league Falky was just as strong. I batted against him one day, saw the break and knew he had the ball. But I didn't let on."

TWO LOCAL SWIMMERS

TIM MALONEY AND FRANK MURPHY WILL COMPETE IN BIG EVENT AT LAKEVIEW

Lowell will be represented in the 15-mile fresh water endurance race to be held at Lakeview Sunday, June 18, by Timothy Maloney, who has twice accomplished the Charleston bridge, Boston Light grind, and Frank Murphy, a well known local swimmer who counts among his accomplishments the swim from Revere to the Graves. It is not believed that Henry Sullivan, champion national long distance swimmer, will compete. Sullivan says that he has nothing to gain by entering such a race and would rather save his energy for a more important event.

O'NEIL SAYS PLAYERS CAN'T ESCAPE PAYMENT—UMPIRES WILL GET HIS BACKING

Dan O'Neil, acting president of the Eastern league, attended the double-header at Springfield this week. O'Neil was very strong in his declaration that all fines assessed must be paid and he says he will see to it that they are collected. Dan says the umpires will get his solid backing and that he will not tolerate any of the senseless kicking of players and managers.

"But we have not had much of that so far," he said. "There has been little of the fining stuff, the first of it coming only last week. But these fellows must not run away with themselves. The hot weather is coming on and that is bad for players. They've got to control themselves."

"You hear a lot about things in the old days, that fines were never paid. I don't know anything about that. I don't believe it is true. Maybe some did get by without paying their fines, but I know one thing that I always had to pay my fines. Nobody ever called off any fine on me. What are fines for anyway? What's the sense in fining a player if you don't mean it? Those fines on New London are on there to attack and they'll be collected, every cent. Every man who has been fined and I will see that the league gets the money promptly. Don't worry about that."

YANKEES HAVE FIND

The Yankees apparently have picked up on Catcher Al Walters. The youngster was the third stringer when the season began. Then Nunamaker was rendered hors de baseball and a while later Alexander was forced from the field of battle by an injury.

That gave Walters a chance—and he has made good. Walters is a New York uniform in years. He has shown fine backstopping ability, has a great whip, can hit with the best catchers in the game and has a remarkable knack of steadying his pitchers.

If you want help at home or in your business, try The Sun "Want" column.

main in the "southern" part of the circuit for the first 10 days or two weeks, believing that the weather would be warmer and more favorable when the season was opened in this vicinity. The cities in Connecticut had the best of the weather, however, and not many games were postponed.

Doc Munn will be out of the game for more than a week, it is thought, as a result of being hit in the eye with a ball during practice in Portland on Wednesday. Co. teams in the Eastern league will not be able to participate in a game until a week from today under the rules. Jake has always been a great favorite in Bridgeport and fans are glad to see him in a baseball uniform of some kind.

Marty Walsh, brother of Big Ed Walsh, has been suspended by the Bridgeport club because he is not in condition. The big pitcher has gone to his home in New York, and declares that after he returns he will be better than ever. "I guess the rest will do me good," Marty remarked after he had been notified that his pay was suspended.

A despatch from Bridgeport says that Jake Boutles is now captain of a Remington Arms Co. team in the Eastern league of that city. Playing first base on the same team is an old companion, Jack Halstein, former Lowell player. Both of these players are now gunnakers in the Connecticut city. Halstein is playing his first game today, and Boutles will not be eligible to participate in a game until a week from today under the rules. Jake has always been a great favorite in Bridgeport and fans are glad to see him in a baseball uniform of some kind.

Jack Halstein has been employed at the Remington Arms work, or some time. He has heard the sound of the baseball call but has not yet responded. In fact, Jack has talked terms with clubs in the Eastern league, but he doesn't want to give up his job at the factory until he is sure of obtaining a steady berth on a ball club. As nothing is sure in baseball, Halstein is remaining at his post in Bridgeport. While the league undoubtedly possesses some good players and offers a good brand of semi-professional baseball, it seems that Bridgeport fans will want the best they can get and will not abandon the Eastern league to see the men who have failed to make good in the organization play in a factory league.

Though the Eastern league season is now six weeks along, the Lowell and Worcester teams have not yet met in a single game, or no game has been scheduled between these teams. This is another peculiar fact in the Eastern schedule. Lowell plays Worcester for the first time at Worcester on June 16. At this time Lowell will have met Lawrence eight times and every other team in the league six or seven times. Billy Hamilton's aggression is much faster now than it was a few weeks back and Lowell will not find it as easy picking as some of the other teams did earlier in the season.

Unless Bridgeport and New Haven are braced and some live talent secured the prospects are that the fans in both of these cities will kick the season. Each team is decidedly weak and in order to keep in line with the policy of the other managers of the league will have to show more life or else the league as well as the men behind these clubs will suffer.—Worcester Post.

Harry Lord was given a traveling bag by the fans of his home town at Portland. This is the second gift of its kind to Eastern league players at the Duffy home this year. Probably suitcases and such make an impression on the Maine public because of their usefulness in a dry state.—Exchange.

James E. Keady, the new Eastern league umpire, is a brother of Tom Keady, the former Dartmouth coach and at present athletic coach at Lehigh university. He was also part owner of the Manchester club in the New England league last season. Mr. Keady has worked for several years as an umpire in the Twin State league and gave satisfaction.

TIN CAN SOUNDS

Lowell Drops Horsey—Postponements Hit Owners Hard

The sound of the tin can was heard for the first time in several weeks in the office of the local baseball club this forenoon when "Hank" Horsey, who hails from somewhere down in Maryland, was presented with his release papers by manager Harry Lord. Though Horsey twirled good ball for the Manchester club a year ago he failed to show any reason why he should be retained by the local team in several try-outs this season. He has not been able to go through an entire game in the box. This leaves the team with four pitchers which is about three too many unless the weather changes.

The rain today made a stinging climax to the hardest week that club owners in these parts have experienced for many seasons. Almost in the middle of June when things should progress nicely, so far as baseball weather is concerned, we have had about one solid week of rain. Starting Monday and Tuesday games scheduled to be played here were postponed. Wednesday Lowell managed to play a game in Portland though the weather was by no means propitious. Thursday the Lowell team was "rained" out of Portland and yesterday J. Fluvius continued to reign and the team did not even journey to Lawrence, where it was scheduled to play. And today, when it was hoped some reimbursement for the week's expenses would be made, the rain fell as steadily as ever and the Lawrence game was called off.

Lowell split even for the week so far as guarantees were concerned. The owners paid $200 to Hugh Duffy Monday and Jesse Burkett collected his 100 dollars June 10th. Wednesday at Portland Lowell collected only its $100 and Thursday and Friday it did the same. This means that the players' salaries, traveling expenses, cost of the

FLEE FOR THEIR LIVES

COLLAPSE OF FOUNDATION CAUSES LOSS OF AT LEAST $150,000 AT PORTLAND, ME.

PORTLAND, Me., June 10.—A caving in of the foundation of a pier under the plant of the Pocahontas Coal company on Long wharf yesterday resulted in a loss of at least $150,000.

The collapse of the foundation, far under water, came suddenly. One of the towers fell 10 feet with a great crash. Alexander Burns of Portland and Albert Gallagher and John Carswell of New York were in the tower. Hearings on an unusual sound and feeling the structure settling, they started on the run for the coal pockets about 200 ft. away. The vessel began to bend downward, and was at an angle of 45 degrees when they cleared it. Gallagher was thrown down, but managed to scramble up again in time to save his life.

Engineers Lawrence and McAllen were in the second tower. It did not fall, and all the men reached the ground to safety. Gallagher, who hurt his right wrist when he fell, was the only one injured. About 300 tons of soft coal fell into the hole caused by the collapse of the foundation.

The immediate cause of the trouble was the disappearance of about 150 feet of made land, it was stated by experts. It is expected that repairs may keep the big plant out of commission for some months.

THE GOOKIN FURNITURE CO. PRESCOTT STREET IS MAKING SOME SPECIAL OFFERINGS

One of the most pleasurable tasks—if it can be so called—for the bride-to-be is the preparation and the furnishing of the home to which she is to go after her honeymoon. Never is a girl more fastidious and critical than at this time for she takes notice of every detail in the selection of what is going to make up the cosy little home for two; and perhaps in all the furnishings to be brought none demands more of her attention than the furniture. It was with a knowledge of this fact that Mr. William Gookin, proprietor of the Gookin Furniture company, Prescott street, bought the goods which he is offering during the month of June—the month of brides. Among the many appropriate articles of furniture offered are mahogany dressers, parlor suites, bary tables, buffets, dining chairs, with leather seats with a wide enough range of prices to suit everyone. Those who are in a quandary as to what to buy as a wedding gift for a dear friend soon to be married will do well to inspect the many articles which can be obtained at this well known furniture house in Prescott street.

WHAT THEY OMIT

Both the republicans and progressives at Chicago agree without reservation in their mutual opposition to the democratic party, and their platforms are merely that opposition set to vague and safe terms. When they speak of protection for Americans at home and abroad, they hint that President Wilson neglected to ensure it; when they speak of preparedness, the tariff, regulation of transportation, international law, woman suffrage, etc., they merely wish to capitalize any petty disaffection that may exist in certain groups relative to democratic policies. Each group gives particular attention to the democratic party and while they use a microscope on every official act of President Wilson, they will carefully reject the good and feature everything that by adroit political juggling may be made to look unfavorable to him.

The progressives and republicans fail to mention when speaking of President Wilson and the democratic administration that every promise made has been kept so far as possible; that legislation has been in the interest of the many instead of the few; that the country is wonderfully prosperous in every corner; that the federal reserve act prevented complete disorganization and panic when the world was at war; that the people of every great nation in the world envy us and that President Wilson holds a high place in the hearts of the American people. Furthermore they fail to mention that President Wilson is for the second largest navy in the world and an adequate army; that he has striven hard to make up for the lack of a merchant marine and that he is the author of the federal tariff commission bill.

Another point that the enemies of the present administration neglect to mention is that had we a president who would put in force the policies of Roosevelt or Gardner, we should in all probability now be at war. And, by the way, would the glory of America be any the greater if we had hundreds of thousands of our sturdy young men drowned in the sea from troop ships or buried in the bloody trenches of Europe? Is President Wilson's triumph over lawlessness any less glorious because it has been won without the sacrifice of American blood and American treasure in a war which all the earth regrets?

A LOWELL EXHIBIT

From time to time the suggestion has been made that the mills and great industries of Lowell should get together a permanent Lowell exhibit which would include samples of the main products produced in this city. That such an exhibit would have a great educational value is unquestionable, and if a proper use were made of it it might serve as a medium of the best type of advertising in which the city might engage. We are so used to our great achievements in manufacturing, etc., that they seem commonplace, but just as we regard the great automobile manufacturing cities of the west, the west regards the textile cities of the east.

The "Made-in-Lowell" exposition held at the Casino showed the great interest that can be aroused by a purely local display, even where the exhibits are manufactured, and a permanent exhibit of this nature would likewise prove educational and attractive to our people and to visitors. At the present time the visitor to Lowell can see the outside of the great corporations but owing to rigid restrictions he cannot get a look inside. It might astonish him to know that we produce not only cottons and woolsens of the better known kinds, but laces, voiles, plush, silk and the very finest fabrics, to say nothing of our hundreds of varieties of other products. If somewhere in Lowell there was set apart a "Made-in-Lowell" exposition of a permanent character, it might be the means of promoting business as well as giving all who see it a higher conception of the city and its interests.

This plan might be kept in mind in connection with the proposed erection of a new public hall. A Lowell exhibit would be entirely in keeping with the institution and this need not necessarily be so extensive that it would prove difficult to maintain. After the first cost the money needed for the display would be a negligible amount and there surely would be civic spirit enough in our larger industries to lead them to co-operate, entirely apart from the business value of the experiment. Libraries, civic halls, etc., in all parts of the country are constantly on the lookout for novel displays, and a "Made-in-Lowell" collection would be such as to give it ready admission anywhere.

PRICE OF MEAT

Reports from the meat barons relative to the future prospects of this country in regard to its meat supply are by no means encouraging. Meat, they say, is becoming more scarce and the public knows only too well that prices continue to rise.

The suggestion is made by the heads of the industry and supported by the press generally that other sections besides the west take up the neglected cattle industry so as to ensure to the country a sufficient meat supply. In the days before trust organization and the wonders of freight service, New England was a great cattle producing country, and it is said that like conditions would develop today with the proper backing. What is desired is not so much a cattle business on a large scale but interest manifested by the farmers over a considerable area so that there would be meat for all and at a price that would not prove prohibitive.

We are fortunate that the resources of this country have not been put to the test as they are being put to the test in Germany. There, the parks and public gardens have been put under crops and a dictator of food does out a niggardly quantity to the population. Here we show hundreds of thousands of acres to run to wild vegetation, while there are no great herds of cows and sheep to benefit by the grass that grows in our New England meadows. The man who looks over our country spaces with an eye to business is planning on town sites or a factory location, while the foreign economist would wonder at our neglect of great farming opportunities, without which no nation is safe or really prosperous.

New England farms might not afford to many the opportunity for immense or speedy wealth, but farm life would be far preferable to the life spent by our hundreds of thousands who crowd into factories and turn their backs on our swamps and un reclaimed places. It would not be surprising to see a movement in the future for the development of the cattle industry in New England and other parts of the country.

A COSTLY LESSON

At present we have to hire our carrying done for us, although up to 1860 we were able to do so per cent of it ourselves. Now we are paying freights which are sometimes 1000 times higher than in normal times. Even before the war we were paying between $200,000,000 and $300,000,000 annually to foreign ship owners—paying profit to foreign capital and to foreign labor, instead of to our own.

On the outbreak of the war we had our six American-owned bottoms carrying goods back and forth on the Atlantic, while one German corporation had a fleet of 500 ships. When the war broke, foreign merchant ships were either appropriated for military purposes or interned—and American commerce was for a time paralyzed. We could neither buy nor sell abroad. When commerce resumed, half the profits were taken in freight charges by foreign ship owners.

AMERICAN PREPAREDNESS

How does our present fervor for preparedness impress other nations? Do they see in it a desire on our part for war or an abandonment of neutrality, or do they know that while America is for a large army and navy, for industrial, spiritual, national and every other kind of preparedness, it is averse to war and will consent to fight only when it cannot maintain its honor by any other means? We can only assume what the foreign attitude is, but it must be remembered that few who live under foreign governments can realize or understand American ideals. Here is a great, prosperous and free people suddenly deciding that the nation should be prepared—not for war but against war. And it is the people who so feel. In other nations the governments or the rulers pull the strings and the people are the puppets in the game of international diplomacy. What the end of the game inevitably is can be now seen in the various battle fields. America, on the other hand, has learned that its liberties and institutions are so blessed that they are worth defending. If we must defend them, and for the first time in decades a real desire for a national awakening is sweeping over the land. The preparations for the Lowell parade are typical of preparations through the length and breadth of the United States, and they represent the sober decision of the American people of every kind and class.

PROPERTY DETERIORATION

One of the very obvious business mistakes that is commonly made by owners of property is to let it deteriorate until adequate repair is out of the question and a good price is impossible. On almost all streets are examples of this kind of property and they not only offend the eye but cause general depreciation just as a fine building or well kept property sets a standard for all to emulate. In some of the finest sections of the city there are houses that when erected were show places of beauty, but today they are empty wrecks that grow more and more dilapidated with time. Why owners will permit this is difficult to see as they have a better chance to get rid of such property before it is thoroughly ruined than if they wait until it is sold at sacrifice. The usual end of such a course is an auction at which there are few bidders, and those who buy expect to lay out almost as much as would build a new house. To permit property to go without paint or periodic repair is bad for the owner and decidedly bad for the section adjoining.

THE TRAINED MIND

Self-conscious writers with more conceit than fairness are too prone to laugh at the expressed opinions of the youthful, and it is not unusual to find the individual who laughs at the school commencement essay. While it may be that the assurance of the young man or young woman who says the last word on weighty topics at school commencements is somewhat disconcerting, the fact remains that the average essay at this time is well worth general consideration. Minds that have but recently been fed from the great sources of wisdom and that have not been tainted by the prejudices of the more mature, oftentimes are more fitted to grapple with great questions than those of older persons. In this connection the effort of the schools to get their pupils to debate and write on great current topics is to be commended, though a broad point of view is necessary if trouble is to be avoided.

Like a Wedding Shower

On one of the county roads down Plymouth way an auto and a buggy bumped. The wagon had a load of groceries and a large part of the cargo was rice. The bags containing this broke and rice was scattered over the tarria surface of the road in a small imitation of a snow drift, and suggested to some of the spectators that it looked as if there had been a wedding in the neighborhood and the friends of the principals had overtaken the bride couple and showered them with rice unto the real deluge stage. No one was hurt and the horse even escaped without any more than a shock to his nerves.

A Squirrel With Nerve

A certain storekeeper in Brockton desires to know the difference between a tame and a wild squirrel. His curiosity was aroused by the following little incident. A young squirrel was seen to descend from a large tree near Weston street and leisurely make its way toward the store. With hardly a bit of hesitation it walked into the store, jumped upon the counter, and, ignoring the proprietor who stood by, calmly seized a large nut and made a hurried departure. So brazen was the action of the little beast that witnesses could only stand and smile.

FOR ST. JOHN'S DAY

ARRANGEMENTS FOR BIG OBSERVANCE BY LOCAL FRENCH-AMERICANS

A very interesting meeting of the committee in charge of the St. John's day celebration, which is to be held in this city on Sunday, June 25, was held last evening at the O.M.C. hall, with President Henri Achin, Jr., in the chair. Practically all members of the committee were present and the guests at the meeting were Rev. Dr. J. H. Racette, O.M.C., pastor of St. Joseph's; Rev. Leon Lamothe, O.M.C., pastor of Notre Dame de Lourdes; and Rev. J. B. Labossiere, pastor of St. Louis. The clergymen present spoke interestingly and presented several valuable suggestions to bring the event to a successful end.

Rev. Leon Lamothe, O.M.C., chairman of the committee on invitations, informed the committee that he had received a favorable reply from the chairman of the upper house of parliament at Ottawa, Ont., Hon. J. Landry, who had accepted the invitation to be the principal speaker at the banquet to be held at Associate hall. But a few days ago he received another message from Mr. Landry to the effect that he had decided to cancel his engagement in Lowell for he will sail June 17 for England. Former Gov. Aram J. Potliver of Rhode Island will be one of the principal speakers at the dinner. Other notable speakers have also been invited, but the committee has not as yet heard from them.

The celebration will consist of a solemn high mass in each of the French-American Catholic churches of the city in the morning, and a banquet at Associate hall in the evening. During the evening concert numbers will be given by the A. G. C. brass band. Final arrangements for the event will be made at the next meeting of the committee, which will be held Sunday afternoon, June 18, at 2 o'clock at the C.M.A.C. headquarters.

DEMAND FOR TENEMENTS

It is Felt by Real Estate Men All Over the City—New Buildings—Transactions for the Week

Negotiations are now under way for the lease of a large piece of land in Paige street for the erection of a modern public garage. The land is owned by an estate and not for sale. It is now occupied by a couple of old wooden buildings and if the deal is put through the new building will mean a great improvement for that section of the city.

E. Gaston Campbell is the man between the two parties and he hopes the deal will be put through within a week or two. According to present plans if the land in question can be leased, the lessee will erect a two-story modern brick building and will equip it with a first class repair shop, while other sections of the building will be devoted to storing purposes. The building of a garage in Paige street may mean that the street, which is now being used for parking purposes will be abandoned. The cost of the building, if erected will be between $12,000 and $15,000.

The large tract of land located partly in Lowell and partly in Dracut, up Lakeview avenue, which was recently developed, will be the scene of real activities within a month, if predictions come true. Several house lots have been sold and the purchasers are contemplating the erection of dwelling houses. It was stated this morning that work will be started next week on a three-tenement house and before the summer is over at least ten dwelling houses will be in shape for occupancy on that land.

Guy C. Cochran is having an eight-room house with pantry and bath erected at 508 Stevens street at a cost of about $3000. The building will be 30 by 32 feet.

A seven-room cottage with pantry and bath is being erected at 135 Bellevue street for Charles Winslow at a cost of about $2800.

Kontilo Tarefas has started work on the construction of a home on the Lowell-Tewksbury line. The house will be 26x38 feet and will cost $2900.

The old coal trestle in the yard of the Lowell Bleachery Co. has been torn down and the company is now erecting a new one which will be 112 feet by 16 feet. The trestle will be placed on a concrete base and the cost will be about $2000.

Some Lowell contractors have presented their bids with the Dracut school committee for the construction of a four-room addition to the school.

Univille school. The bids were opened at a meeting of the board held last evening, but inasmuch as all the figures submitted were in excess of the appropriation allotted, no action was taken as far as granting the contract, but it was voted to ask the six lowest bidders to revise their estimates. The money voted for the addition amounts to $1500.

The U. S. Robbin and Shuttle Co. is erecting an intermediate floor in a large high studded store room at its plant at the corner of Rogers and Perry streets. The estimated cost of the alterations is $1700.

Larkin T. Trull has had work started on the erection of a one-family dwelling at 120 Plummer street. The house will contain six rooms with kitchen and bath and will cost about $1400.

The stable located in the rear of 30 Elliott street and leased by Charles Markarian, is being converted into a two-family dwelling. The estimated cost of the change is $300.

The store at 68-70 Market street is being enlarged by the removal of a staircase to the rear of the building. The building is owned by Burton H. Wiggin and the cost of the change will be $100.

Leon Proulx will have a piazza erected to the second story of his building at 157 White street at a cost of $50.

John B. Johnson is building a sleeping porch over the rear piazza of his home, 68 Chelmsford street.

Arthur M. Grant is building an addition to his stable at 12 Quimby street.

N. W. Leach has men working on the erection of a bay window at his dwelling, 20 Richardson street.

Owen Kayle is building a wooden garage at 15 Stromquist avenue.

Tenements in Demand

"The scarcity of tenements is being felt all over the city and particularly in Pawtucketville," said a local property owner to a Sun reporter today. "There is a constant demand for flats in the Highlands, Belvidere and other parts of the city, especially within walking distance of the U. S. Cartridge shops. People are also asking for cottages with land, but we cannot help them in any way."

This particular property owner has a large number of cottages, two and three apartment houses in the Highlands and Pawtucketville and every one of them is occupied. He is now erecting two cottages in the Highlands and one in Pawtucketville and he informed the writer that although the houses will not be ready for occupancy for at least three or four weeks, there are more than twenty demands for each flat or house. In some districts of the city the landlords have taken advantage of the great demand for decent flats to increase the rent, and even at that modern, up-to-date, vacant flats or cottages are very scarce.

SAYS HE'S NOT A BIGAMIST INQUEST FINDING

Charles Denies Having Married Second Wife—Case for Non-Support Dropped—Other Cases

Charles Denis, charged with neglect of his wife, appeared before Judge Enright in police court this morning and entered a plea of guilty. Although he has been separated from her for a number of years she was willing to forgive him and announced to the court that she wanted to dismiss the complaint. Lawyer A. O. Hamel appeared for the woman and the man was represented by Lawyer Daniel J. Donahue. It was stated by North Adams papers that the man had a wife and family in that city but Denis stoutly denies that he has been married to a second wife.

Case Continued

John Kesonovitz and Veronica Szuplana were charged with lewd cohabitation. At the request of counsel the case was continued until next Tuesday.

John Sullivan and William J. Gillis, charged with drunkenness, were each ordered to pay a fine of $5.

The complaints against the ten operators of jitneys who allow their machines to stand in Paige street, near the corner of Bridge street, which was heard last week, came up for decision this morning but Judge Enright announced that he would reserve decision in the matter until next Saturday morning.

Mrs. Jacob Nannus was arraigned this morning on a complaint against her with assault and battery on Barney Seigel and although she entered a plea of not guilty the court found her woman guilty and ordered her to pay a fine of $5.

Seigel claimed that the woman slapped him on the face several times, he not having given her any reason to do so. On the other hand the woman claimed that the complainant had slapped her first.

Judge Pickman Finds Taylor Blameless for Deveno Boy's Death

The inquest finding on the death of Victor Deveno, the boy who was struck down by an automobile owned and operated by Harry C. Taylor, and died of injuries sustained, was submitted by Judge John J. Pickman this morning at the office of the local police court. The Deveno boy, together with several companions, were playing baseball on the Princeton boulevard on May 10 last, and in running after a thrown ball crossed directly in front of the automobile driven by Mr. Taylor. All but one of the witnesses testified at the inquest that he was running at a reasonable rate of speed and did everything possible to avert the accident.

The finding in conclusion says: "I find that the operating of the automobile from the right of the centre of the street to the left of the centre of the street, thereby avoiding running into the boys who were in the street on the south side of the street, near the lot, and thereafter operating the automobile still farther to the left of the centre of the street, in the effort to avoid running into the Deveno boy, were reasonable efforts to prevent accidents under the conditions that existed on the street at that time."

"I find that in the afternoon of Wednesday, the tenth day of May last past, that Victor Deveno, a boy of the age of six years, was struck and thrown down by an automobile that was being operated by Harry C. Taylor upon Princeton street, a state highway in the city of Lowell, whereby said Victor Deveno sustained injuries that caused his death."

"I find that the death of said Victor Deveno was not caused by the criminal negligence of said Harry C. Taylor. Respectfully submitted,

John J. Pickman, Senior Special Justice of the City of Lowell and Acting.

CREWS RESCUED

Two Schooners Went Ashore Off Newburyport—One a Total Loss

NEWBURYPORT, June 10.—After vainly trying to fight their way out to sea and safety, battling against mountainous waves, heavy fog, a terrific downpour and a howling 50-mile gale, eight men were rescued from the rigging of two schooners when they went ashore off this harbor yesterday afternoon.

Three men were taken from the two-masted schooner Josie, which went aground off Plum Island and five from the Virginian, off Salisbury beach. Those taken from

DEMOCRATS TURN FROM WATCHING FOES TO THEIR OWN NATIONAL CONVENTION

ST. LOUIS, June 10.—Before the republican and the progressive conventions in Chicago had decided on their separate and collective courses of action the democrats began the final arrangements for their big meeting in St. Louis to renominate President Wilson. National Democratic Committeeman Edward F. Goltra of St. Louis returned to St. Louis from Chicago and said that a comparison of arrangements at the Coliseum here with the arrangements in Chicago convinces him that St. Louis is much better prepared to take charge of delegates and visitors. The matter of the presidential nomination being settled, and Marshall virtually sure of renomination, the question of the campaign manager becomes important. Fred B. Lynch of Minnesota is mentioned prominently to succeed McCombs. Norman E. Mack of New York, who managed the Bryan campaign in 1908, will not, it is thought, be chosen, but he will be conspicuous at the convention. Senator William H. Thompson, democrat, of Kansas, represents a neighboring state and feels quite at home here. Norman Hapgood, editor and head of the Wilson Nonpartisan league, is among the busiest bees of the democratic party just now.

T. R. SUGGESTS LODGE

NAMES MASSACHUSETTS SENATOR AS COMPROMISE CANDIDATE

OSTER BAY, N. Y., June 10.—Col. Theodore Roosevelt in a telegram sent this morning to the progressive convention at Chicago suggested the name of Senator Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts as a compromise candidate upon whom both progressives and republicans could unite.

Col. Roosevelt said that at about 5 o'clock this morning he was notified by the progressive conferees that he had come to no conclusion with the republican conferees and that the republican conferees had again asked for any suggestion of a name, as a candidate from the progressive conferees.

He then wrote to the progressive conferees stating that he deeply appreciated their loyalty to him and their efforts to get him nominated, but that he thought the time had come when, carrying out the spirit of the statement of the progressive national committee in January and the statement made by him in Trinidad in February, it was their duty to present an alternative name on which he hoped the republicans and progressives could unite.

"In view of the conditions existing, I suggest the name of Senator Lodge of Massachusetts. He is a man of the highest integrity, of the broadest national spirit and of the keenest devotion to the public good."

Col. Roosevelt paid an eloquent tribute to Senator Lodge, recounting his long and distinguished service for the people.

"I therefore urge upon you favorably to consider his name," Col. Roosevelt continued, "and report on it to the conferees from the republican national convention and if you do not agree with me in this respect, nevertheless to transmit this telegram to the republican conferees and request them to place it before their convention at the same time yourself laying the telegram before the progressive conferees."

After quoting from his telegram to Mr. Jackson as to preparedness, Col. Roosevelt said:

"I wrote the sentences because I felt them deep in my heart. They set forth the vital needs of this time. The nomination of Senator Lodge will meet those vital needs. I earnestly ask that what you can do to bring about that nomination in the name of common Americanism be done."

WEEKS CUTS BIG SWATH

Special to The Sun
CHICAGO, June 10.—Senator Weeks occupied a seat on the center front row platform today instead of with his delegation. He was given the seat of honor, just behind Chairman Harding and immediately on the reading of the Roosevelt letter he came forward and got a tremendous ovation as he withdrew his name. He pledged support to the nominee and said there were no scars on him and asked all to join in supporting whoever would be named. He got a great ovation at the close of his speech.

Senator Lodge got an ovation when he endorsed the Hughes nomination and seconded the motion that the nomination be made unanimous.

Roosevelt's letter to the progressives recommending Lodge for candidate, read by Smoot, met practically no response from delegates, merely a "smattering" applause.

PEACE CONFEREES

Republican Committee Advanced the Name of Justice Hughes of New York

COLISEUM, Chicago, June 10.—Senator Smoot presented the following report from the republican peace committee:

"To the conferees of the republican national convention:
In accordance with the precedence set by yourselves with respect to the communication received from us we shall take pleasure in presenting your communication to the national convention of the progressive party which meets at 10:30 o'clock this morning."
Respectfully submitted:
George W. Perkins,
Hiram Johnson,
Horace S. Wilkinson,
Charles J. Bonaparte,
John M. Parker."

The communication of the republican conferees follows:

"To the conferees of the national progressive party:
On behalf of the republican conferees we present for consideration, as a candidate for president, Justice Hughes."

"It is plain that he will soon command the support of a majority of the republican convention."
"His standing as a candidate rests first upon his known character and ability; second upon his public service as governor of New York; third his removal from any association with the convention of 1912 and the differences which then arose."

"The support of Justice Hughes, in the republican convention, respects spontaneous interest and belief in his candidacy which have shown themselves in widely scattered states and among all classes and groups of voters."

"These have shown themselves without any formal organization in his behalf and are one ground for believing that the candidacy would be acceptable to all groups of republicans and would reunite them."

"His silence as to recent issues is the necessary result of his judicial position. His earlier speeches and declarations, however, give ground for the assurance that he is in accord with the platform that has been adopted by the republican and progressive conferees."

Respectfully submitted,
Read Smoot,
W. Murray Crane,
William E. Borah,
Nicholas Murray Butler,
A. R. Johnson."

ACCEPTS NOMINATION

Hughes Outlines His Policy in Message of Acceptance—Resigns as Associate Justice

WASHINGTON, June 10.—Justice Hughes late today sent a telegram to Chairman Harding of the republican national convention formally accepting the republican nomination for the presidency.

At the same time it was announced that the justice had resigned his associate justice of the supreme court of the United States.

Justice Hughes sent his resignation by messenger to President Wilson.

Following is the telegram to Chairman Harding:

"Mr. Chairman and delegates: I have no desired the nomination. I have wished to remain on the bench. But in this critical period in our national history I recognize that it is your right to summon and that it is my paramount duty to respond. You speak at a time of national exigency, transcending merely partisan considerations. You voice the demand for a dominant, thorough-going Americanism—with firm protective upbuilding policies essential to our peace and security and to that call, in this crisis I cannot fail to answer with the plea of all that is in me to the service of our country. Therefore, I accept the nomination."

"I stand for the firm and unflinching maintenance of all the rights of American citizens on land and sea."

"Neither impugned motives nor underestimate difficulties. But it is most regrettable that in our foreign relations we have suffered, incalculably from the weak and vacillating course which has been taken with regard to Mexico—a course lamentably wrong with regard to both our right and our duties. We interfered without consistency; and while seeking to dictate when we were not concerned we utterly failed to appreciate and discharge our plain duty to our own citizens."

"At the outset of the administration the high responsibilities of our diplomatic intercourse with foreign nations were subordinated to a conception of partisan requirements and we presented to the world a humiliating spectacle of ineptitude. Belated efforts have not availed to recover the influence and prestige so unfortunately sacrificed; and brave words have been stripped of their force by indecision."

"Our desire to see our diplomacy restored to its best standards and to have these advanced; to have no sacrifices of national interest to partisan expediencies; to have the first ability of the country always at its command here and abroad in diplomatic intercourse; to maintain firmly our rights under international law; insisting steadfastly upon all our rights as mutual and fully performing our international obligations; and by the clear correctness and justice of our position and our manifest ability and disposition to sustain them to dignify our place among the nations."

WATER ESCAPING ON MILL

The attention of people in The Sun building, high enough to see it, was attracted this afternoon by water gushing from a pipe on the roof of the big store house of the Massachusetts mills in Bridge street. Inquiry at the office of the mills did not result in any definite explanation as to the cause of the miniature geyser, but it was very evident that there was considerable force behind the water as it was thrown into the air for a distance of not less than two feet.

MORE TROUT TO STOCK LOCAL
FISH-POND-MALLARD DUCK SHIP-
MENT

Willis S. Holt, secretary of the Lowell Fish and Game association, received notice today that 15 cans of trout will arrive in Lowell Monday noon. The notice was received from the state fish and game commission and the trout will be planted by Messrs. O'Hara, Gonsales and McCarthy of the local association.

Simon B. Harris, president of the association, has received a letter from the commissioners on fisheries and game asking if the local association would care to receive a shipment of mallard ducks for distribution.

The letter was written in anticipation of the fact that the commission may have a large number of ducks to send out. Mr. Harris will reply to the effect that the local association would be glad to receive a shipment.

INTERCEDES FOR O'CONNOR

Mayor Asks Lansing to Probe Detention of Brother of Schoolhouse Commissioner in Ireland

BOSTON, June 10.—In confirmation of a personal request he made of Secretary of State Lansing while in Washington last Tuesday, Mayor Curley yesterday wrote him asking the state department to investigate the case of Bartholomew O'Connor, who is said to be confined to Kilmalham jail, Dublin, on the charge of conspiracy against the English crown in connection with the recent Sinn Féin uprising in Ireland. The mayor was accused by a brother of Thomas D. O'Connor, schoolhouse commissioner of the city of Boston, and a leading contractor and a man of very high standing in this community.

It appears that Bartholomew O'Connor has a place of business at 1 Brandon road, Donnybrook, Dublin, Ireland, where he is engaged as a contractor and builder. He is 45 years of age and has a wife and seven children depending upon him for support.

It appears that for some time prior to the recent Irish crisis, Bartholomew O'Connor was at the home of his mother, in Kerry county, and attending her during a period of severe illness, and at no time during the origin of the revolt was in Dublin or thereabouts.

Mr. O'Connor returned to his business in Dublin some eight days after the uprising had started and was arrested for alleged participation in the Sinn Féin movement.

"It further appears that Bartholomew O'Connor was for about three years a resident of the United States and had taken first papers from the office of the United States circuit court for naturalization." Access to O'Connor is denied by the British military authorities at Kilmalham jail. No details have been given by British officials relative to the exact character of the charges and specifications, made against the man.

PRINCE ENDS LIFE

Details of Suicide of Turkish Heir Apparent
Made Public

CONSTANTINOPLE, June 10.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—The details of the suicide of the late Turkish heir apparent, Yusef Izzeddin Effendi, from becoming known generally, has been learned from a dignitary of the prince's establishment.

Prince Yusef Izzeddin had for several years been suffering from an incurable nervous affliction, a malady which caused him to visit annually the baths of Europe, including those of the city of Vienna, where the mineral waters are said to have remedial effects in such cases. As the prince knew older the affliction advanced and when the European was broken out he was generally considered a very sick man. He had been a subject of the Turkish empire in military affairs and undertook several tours of inspection to the Gallipoli terrain at the request of the sultan, his uncle. On one of these trips the Associated Press correspondent met him at the headquarters of Liman von Sanders Pasha. It was plain that the prince was under some strain. His conversation was disjointed, although his remarks were in themselves entirely rational.

On the evening on which he died, Prince Yusef Izzeddin had retired at his usual hour, going to the apartment of one of his wives, Hare, he lay down as a divan. A few minutes later the woman heard him utter a slight groan, and, looking at the man, saw him bleeding. Upon inquiry, the prince replied that the bleeding was due to a slight accident, and then asked the woman to get him a glass of water. When she returned with this she found that the prince had locked the door behind her. She then rushed to find one of the attendants. The two returned to the door, but the attendant confirmed his efforts to asking the prince whether he could enter the room. No answer came, however.

The woman and the attendant then called upon the marshal of the household, who promptly decided to force the door. This proved difficult, as the door was locked and the prince was barred from within. In the end it had to be broken down piecemeal. Meanwhile the palace physician had been roused and his examination disclosed that the arteries in the elbow pit had been severed with a small knife. This weapon was found between the upholstery of the divan and the wall.

CLASH ON THE BORDER

Shots Exchanged Between U. S. Troops and Bandits—Americans Fleeing From Mexico

BROWNSVILLE, Tex., June 10.—Shots were exchanged between American soldiers at Progresso, Tex., and Mexican bandits across the Rio Grande opposite that place last night, according to reports here.

Food riots were reported last night in Matamoros, opposite the Mexican town announced the disturbance had been quelled.

AMERICANS FLEEING

FROM NORTHERN MEXICO

WASHINGTON, June 10.—Administration officials were uneasy today over continued reports of anti-American demonstrations in northern Mexico.

American troops in Mexico, fearing serious riots are proceeding to the border in greater numbers and those seeking to return to Mexico are being advised against such action.

Most demonstrations have gone no further than mass meetings and speeches by agitators who resent the presence of American troops on Mexican soil. Carranza troops have sought usually to return to Mexico after the U. S. army in Mexico have been threatened with attack by Carranza troops, according to authoritative information received here today. A column of Carranza cavalry is said to have dashed forward upon an American detachment recently south of Nacimiquila, rifles in hand. The Americans are said to have averted a clash by making their ground. According to the report the Mexicans withdrew.

NOTORIOUS BANDIT LEADER

AND COMPANIONS CAPTURED

CHIHUAHUA CITY, Mex., June 10.—General Luis Herrera reported today from Parral the capture of Victor Sandoval, a notorious bandit leader in the Provenza valley, together with four companions, one of whom had been shot. Sandoval was shot immediately by his captors and announcement was made that his brother Luis now confined in Parral, is to be executed "for the public good."

A number of citizens today publicly demanded that Luis Sanchez Mena, charged with attempting to enlist Mexicans to co-operate with the Americans in the event of intervention, be handed over for "summary justice." Military authorities, however, denied the plea, holding Mena for court martial that he may have an opportunity to vindicate himself.

TEXAS MILITIA CAVALRY

ENTRAINED FOR LAREDO

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., June 10.—A squadron of Texas militia cavalry entrained for Laredo today to strengthen the troops on patrol duty in the Laredo district where the activities of the bandit, De la Rosa, south of Laredo have caused alarm.

IT LOOKS LIKE O'LEARY

Lively Contest for Democratic National Committeeman Being Waged

While the republicans and progressives in national conventions assembled are worrying over the selection of a candidate to head the ticket, the democrats are united and the only contests to be fought at the national convention will be of a minor nature.

In this state a lively contest for member of the democratic national committee is on, and a straw vote taken recently resulted in 21 votes for Michael A. Leary, chairman of the democratic state committee and 14 for Dr. John W. Coughlin, of Fall River, the present incumbent. There was one doubtful vote, that of former Governor Walsh, but it has since been announced that he will not be at the convention.

Dr. Coughlin was elected four years ago at Baltimore, by one vote, after a lively contest between the Boston machine and the rest of the state. Dr. Coughlin's election being brought about largely through the efforts of Mr. Humphrey O'Sullivan, of this city.

There has been some dissatisfaction over Dr. Coughlin's distribution of patronage in different parts of the state as well as in Boston, and hence according to the democratic leaders he does not possess the ante-convention strength that he did four years ago. The Boston machine is taking an active part in the contest, chiefly it is said in opposition to Dr. Coughlin.

ORPET MURDER TRIAL

WAUKEGAN, Ill., June 10.—The trial of Will H. Orpet will be resumed on Monday, Judge Connelly having adjourned court over today pending a ruling on the demand of the prosecution that letters written by the youth to his father the day the body of Marian Lambert was found, be turned over to attorneys for the state.

DIED SUDDENLY

James A. Sample, Cashier of United States Treasury, Died After Concluding Tribute to Play

WASHINGTON, June 10.—James A. Sample, cashier of the United States treasury, died suddenly here last night, aged 73 years. The end came just as he had concluded a tribute to the national emblem at the annual banquet of the National Rifles Veterans' association.

Mr. Sample was a native of Indiana, a personal friend of Abraham Lincoln and was appointed teller in the treasury department during Mr. Lincoln's administration.

MASS. DEFECTION ON WEEKS IS CONDEMNED

May Cause Split in Party in This State

—Lodge Severely Censured for Jump to Roosevelt After Making a Strong Nominating Speech—Delegates Bedraggled—Borah's Speech to the Progressives

Special to The Sun

CHICAGO, Ill., June 10.—Senator Weeks was smiling and calm this morning when I saw him surrounded by a great crowd of delegates and staunch friends. Both Weeks and his managers decline to comment on the defection in the Massachusetts delegation. Weeks urges party harmony and has released all pledged delegates and will have his name formally withdrawn if he can hold his men in line for such action. His western supporters want to treat the Weeks deserters in Missouri fashion, but Weeks urges the party before the man, and is proving his belief of presidential size in his manner of ignoring the personal side of the question. It is predicted here in the hotels and corridors that the action of the Massachusetts delegation will split the republican party up the back at the fall election despite Weeks' stand for harmony.

The Bedraggled Delegates

If you ever say rain to a delegate after this, he will shoot you on the spot. His hat is a mere sudden mass, his shoes squeak and ooze with each step, his only convention suit is mud splashed, and if he ever had an umbrella it undoubtedly turned inside out in the heavy gale that has swept Chicago from stem to stern since the opening day of the convention.

And the women? Why they are just like wet hens, with their pretty plumage of gay colors all bedraggled and matted. But they have been game, and trudged through the mire and flooded streets just as if such weather was quite the proper thing.

The great Coliseum stands with its gray battlements dark against the heavy clouds, with flags and bunting plastering its sides, so heavy are they with rain. But the inside of that great building knows no gloom. The band is perched far up in a gay little balcony all its own and plays trots and jigs and inspiring marches, with now and then a drifting into old songs and negro melodies that bring out a round of applause from floor and galleries.

The press section is a mighty interesting spot these days, with well known writers as thick as honey bees round a rose. William J. Bryan sits there each day, pen in hand, just like the rest of us; Sam Blythe is a near neighbor, "sob-sisters" are grinding out syndicate work by the yard, society writers are keeping an eye on the gallery back of the chairman, the press gallery at the capitol at Washington is almost depleted nearly all the men having been assigned to do convention work both here and at St. Louis; row after row of white capped messenger boys stand ready to rush the press messages down a steep flight of stairs where hundreds of operators send it over the wires to all parts of the country.

Change of Time

"What time is it in your state?" asks your neighbor of the quill, and you make a quick calculation to see if you have caught napping over that hour that must be deducted between New England and Chicago time—or whether there is still time to make good with your editor. There have been some pretty close calls for the men who forgot that Chicago is the place where eastern time changes to middle and that our first day here had 25 instead of 24 hours.

The hall is so big that you feel as though you were six miles from anywhere, but thanks to that new fangled sounding head over the head of the chairman his voice reached the farthest corners. That sounding board looks very much like a glorified lemon squeezer of enormous proportions. I mean the sort that is made of glass running up to a sharp point, with a little ridge around it to let the juice run through. Well, this convention sounding board is exactly the same shape, only inverted, and is as big as a cottage house. Suspended in the middle front of the stage the speakers stand under it, and their voice is thrown out on the four sides. I don't know much about the acoustic side of the invention but I do know that it works like a charm in the convention hall.

Lodge Criticized

Much unfavorable comment was heard on all sides on the action of Senator Lodge in voting on the second ballot for Roosevelt after making the Senate nominating speech. The senator seems to be that Lodge should either have declined to make the speech on account of his Roosevelt preference or stood by the man he put in line for nomination.

The Massachusetts vote attracted much interest and had many exciting incidents. The irony of fate made Butler Ames first alternate and when he was called upon to vote he voted for McCall. This was allowed by the chairman.

Borah's Speech Unauthorized

Senator Crane tells me that Borah's visit and speech before the progressives' convention yesterday noon was made on his own initiative and he was not sent as a representative or emissary of the ten conferees.

Senator Crane, however, did not express any disapproval of Borah's presence in the matter.

Compensation Act

The question of workmen's compensation has reached a very acute stage in the textile industry of Massachusetts, according to the remarks of mill men made before the committee on judiciary at the hearings on Governor McCall's special message last week.

The textile manufacturers from Lowell, New Bedford, Fall River and Lawrence maintain that Governor McCall's plan for a merit rating, based on the efforts of the mill owners to reduce the risk, is the only correct one. They claim that the idea of workmen's compensation is not merely the payment of money to injured workmen, but also contemplates the reduction in the number of industrial accidents. They go further and assert that if the men whose enterprise keeps the industries of the state going make further investments in safeguarding the health of the employees they, and not the insurance companies, should be entitled to the benefits of the reduced accident risk.

Is Governor McCall's idea likewise, but the trouble lies in the present law, which provides all the machinery for safeguarding the interests of the companies, but none at all for safeguarding the interests of the insured, except as that is brought about through the solvency of the companies doing business.

Bon Marche

A meeting of the employees of the Bon Marche has been called for this evening after closing time by Manager Gilmore, for the purpose of discussing the question of whether or not the employees of the store will take part in the Preparedness parade. The men and women employees of the store will be given the opportunity of expressing themselves on that question and then a vote will be taken.

The annual outing of the members of the Bon Marche Mutual and Benefit association will be held on Thursday, July 13. It is expected that as in past years the affair will be an all-day event. It is probable that the excursion will be at Nahant beach. Definite plans, however, will be made at a meeting of the association which will be held in two weeks. The following officers of the association form the committee on arrangements: Peter Corcoran, president; Miss Margaret Murray, vice president; Miss Minnie Snow, treasurer; Miss Dina Lavole, secretary; Miss Ethel Rowe, Miss Alice MacClean, John Marren, auditors.

A. G. Pollard Co.

The annual outing of the members of the A. G. Pollard Co.'s Mutual and Benefit association will also be held on July 13, but the place of the outing has not as yet been selected.

The lot has been chosen and it was unanimously voted to take part in the Preparedness parade. There will be two divisions, the men and the women's. The men's division will be headed by the president of the association, C. A. Delaronde.

Other Stores

It was stated in store circles this morning that the annual outing of the employees of the J. L. Chaffoux Co. store and those of Cook, Taylor & Co. would also be held on July 13, and that there is a movement on foot in an endeavor to have all stores close all day on that date. It is possible that the

ADMINISTRATOR'S SALE OF REAL ESTATE

AT PUBLIC AUCTION

ON THE PREMISES SITUATED AT NOS. 39-41-43 JEWETT STREET, CENTRALVILLE

ON NEXT SATURDAY, JUNE 17, 1916

AT 3 O'CLOCK, P. M.

By virtue of a license issued by the Probate court, the administrator of the estate of Peter L. Denault, late of Lowell, has instructed the auctioneer to sell at absolute auction sale to whomsoever will bid the most this attractive home and investment property, located within 12 minutes' walk of Merrimack Square.

The property comprises a two-story house of nine rooms with bath, pantry and furnace heat at No. 42 Jewett street, and a two-story two-tenement house of five rooms, separate entrances to each, bathroom and furnace in lower tenement at Nos. 39-41 Jewett street.

The lot has an area of about 4533 square feet of land, more or less, with a frontage of about 50 feet on Jewett street.

This sale should attract any person contemplating buying real estate this spring, when you take into consideration a full two-story house, now occupied as a home, that one could if desired convert into a two-apartment property at a low cost, its present plan making it an easy problem. There are four large rooms besides bath and pantry on the first floor, and five good sized chambers and storeroom on the second floor; building is heavily timbered, has a high-posted cellar, cemented in part, and on the same lot a two-story, two-tenement house of five rooms each, that will practically pay the carrying charges of the entire property.

The buildings are in A-1 condition, and the location, within easy walking distance to the largest of Lowell's manufacturing plants, also to the very center of the city, will assure one of a steady and continuous occupancy.

If you are looking for a home, and wish a chance to purchase at the same time, on the same lot, and in no way connected with your home, an investment that will make your rent cost you almost nothing, and pay you interest on your money, then be on hand next Saturday at this sale.

Terms—$300 must be paid to the auctioneer just as soon as the property is struck off. Other terms at sale.

WILLIAM D. REGAN, Attorney for the Administrator.
